Train Robbers Terrorize Passengers Escape With More Than $1,000; Police Say Two Men Admit Theft

WASHINGTON—Police reported a confession today from two suspects seized in the daring Martinsburg, West Virginia, train robbery. The two men were trapped by police in a Washington pawn shop near the White House. One was shot when he drew a pistol.

Police named the pair as Luman Ramsdell, 23, Youngstown, Ohio, and George Jewel Ashton, 21, also of Youngstown. The pair were captured 15 hours after the two young gunmen halted the Baltimore and Ohio's westbound Ambassador train near Martinsburg, terrorized passengers and escaped with more than $1,000.

It was a brazen, gun-slinging train robbery—executed with all the trappings of frontier days. Shots were fired while the two men ranged the coaches of the fast train. A chief was shot in the leg and several passengers socked with gun butts.

B.C., MAN. CURLERS STILL UNBEATEN

HAMILTON—Curling grandstand skips today are saying that the final in the 20th annual Dominion bonspiel will be decided in the ninth and final round tonight. They name as the match the Manitoba-British Columbia set-to.

Skip Ken Watson of Winnipeg will be trying for his third Dominion championship and skip Ken Stone of Trail, B.C., is counting on recapturing the McDonald Brier trophy Trail won last year.

In the seventh round this morning, B.C. extended its unbeaten string to eight with a 12-4 victory over Saskatchewan. Manitoba beat Alberta 14-7 to remain deadlocked in number one position with B.C.

Northern Ontario defeated New Brunswick 15-9; Nova Scotia beat Prince Edward Island 14-6 and Quebec won from Ontario 11-6.

KILLS WIFE WHILE MOTHER LISTENS

NEW YORK—Two men and a woman died in a blast of gunfire last night while a mother 3,000 miles away listened by telephone to her daughter's crying scream for mercy.

Police said Emory Holt, 32, apparently suspicious of a love triangle, called his wife's mother in Hollywood and said: "I'm sorry for what I'm going to do." With the telephone circuit still open, he shot his attractive brunette wife, Norma, 34, and David Whittaker, 32, then killed himself.

EDMONTON FIRE LOSS OVER $2,000,000

EDMONTON—Fire fighters today continued to pour water on the upper floors of the Revillon six-story warehouse—office building on the edge of Edmonton's downtown business district.

The fire is "under control" but already damage of $2,000,000 has been caused. It is estimated damage may reach $3,000,000.

MOSHER CLASHES WITH SMELTER UNION

VANCOUVER—A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, today warned labor splits threaten the unity of the working people of Canada. At a district convention of the smelter workers' union, he said, the "problems of labor must be dealt with intelligently and firmly. Failure will mean organized labor will become a rabble rather than a force for the good of the working people."

The issue was over the CCL order that the mine union move out of the organizing field at Port Colborne and Timmins, Ont. The order was ignored. Mosher said "all jurisdiction of the associates of the CCL belongs to the CCL."

CLOSE ARENA TO PREPARE FOR PLAYOFFS

Memorial Arena will be closed to all activities today while the ice is being cut down in preparation for the busiest session of hockey to date.

Next week, the arena will hold at least 17 hockey games, and possibly 19 if the Alberta-B.C. senior B championships are played in the valley. High school speed skating and hockey takes over this Saturday and the B.C. provincial high school hockey championships will be held here Friday and Saturday of next week.

Probe Site for Gov't Building in Kelowna

H. Whittaker, chief architect for the provincial government, arrived in Kelowna to make a survey of a possible site for the proposed provincial government building.

Mr. Whittaker is reported to be in favor of erecting the government office on Water Street adjoining the city power house.

While the cost of the building was not included in the recent government estimates, local officials are hopeful provision will be made through an order-in-council.

New Sales Manager

J. B. LANDER

Who will succeed Dave McNair as sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., effective next June, according to an announcement made by A. K. Loyd, president and general manager, B.C. Tree Fruits. Mr. Lander is familiar with conditions in the Okanagan having been in close contact with B.C. Tree Fruits while connected with the wartime prices and trade board at Ottawa.

Widely Known Fruit Man, J. B. Lander Appointed Tree Fruits' Sales Head

J. B. LANDER, who served with the fruit and vegetable division of the wartime prices and trade board at Ottawa during the war years, has been appointed sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., according to an announcement made today by A. K. Loyd, president and general manager. Mr. Lander succeeds Dave McNair, and will take over his new duties in June. Mr. McNair, who is widely known throughout the fruit industry in Canada and the U.S., tendered his resignation last January.

Mr. Lander is familiar with conditions in the Okanagan Valley having been closely associated with B.C. Tree Fruits for many years.

He entered the fruit and vegetable brokerage business after enlisting in the Canadian expeditionary forces in World War I, and remained in this capacity with the exception of 1938 when he operated a fruit and vegetable shipping business for the growers in the Kamloops area.

Later he was manager of the Canadian Fruit Distributors' branch at Regina, and on the request of the federal government, was loaned to the wartime prices and trade board at Ottawa.

He assisted E. J. Chambers, administrator, fruits and vegetables division (WPTE) at Ottawa for several years, and was then transferred to Toronto in the position of general manager of the wartime food corporation, which was developed chiefly with the regulation of fruit and vegetable supplies during the war years. When this crown company was terminated, he entered private business in Toronto. During the first year he served with two B.C. battalions.

CITY STILL NEEDS SOIL FOR PARKS

Parkinson Comments Local Residents Who Already Have Offered Soil

Alderman Dick Parkinson commented city residents who had offered "fill" soil to be used for the development of city parks. Several weeks ago Mr. Parkinson requested people to notify city public works department if they had any soil that they wanted removed. The story was carried in The Courier, and Mr. Parkinson told council on Monday night that the response was good.

He particularly commended Mr. Johnson, Vernon Road, who had given the parks department some valuable top soil. Council will officially thank Mr. Johnson by letter.

"We still require more soil to complete new playgrounds," Mr. Parkinson said, "and if any residents, particularly those who are excavating for new homes, have any soil they want moved away, the parks department would certainly appreciate the gesture."

LOCAL JAYCEES ARE COMMENDED FOR INTEREST

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was commended by City Council Monday night for the interest it is taking in civic affairs.

For more than a month Jaycees have had several representatives at council meetings, listening to the deliberations.

Thanks, Kelowna!

Kimberley Legionnaires were a happy outfit when they left Kelowna by car Monday night, headed for Nanaimo and what they hoped was the Coy Cup, emblematic of the provincial senior B (intermediate) hockey championship. But before leaving they wished everyone to know they appreciated the "splendid support and show of good sportsmanship" they received from the faithful hockey fans of Kelowna and district.

"We hope to prove ourselves worthy representatives of the Interior," they stated. During their two-day visit here, the Kimberley boys were royally feted by the Kelowna hockey club and other sports bodies.

CLAIMS WATER DAMAGED LAND

Complaint that water from the city reservoir is damaging her property in the north end of the city, was made to City Council Monday night by Mrs. S. D. Treadgold. The property adjoins that owned by Hugh Turner, a turkey farmer.

City Engineer George Meckling stated as soon as the weather improves, the reservoir would be emptied and that necessary repairs would be made.

Council will assure Mrs. Treadgold the property will be restored to its original condition.

CITY GRANTS TRADE LICENCES

City Council Monday night approved granting trade licences to the following individuals:

A. D. Adamson, insurance agent, 435 Bernard Ave.; W. V. Hillier, hairdressing, 1451 Ellis St., who has taken over the business operated by Mrs. Fay B. Hilker; and Willie Kopsch, wood dealer.

Rural Assessment Total Rapped by Hughes-Games

Criticism over the fact that building permit totals have not been incorporated into rural assessment rolls for structures built during the last 2 1/2 years was levelled by Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games at Council meeting Monday night.

School board estimates were tabled a week ago, and Kelowna has been assessed 51.29 percent of the total school costs. School assessments are based on 75 percent of the value of improvements.

Total of $2,185,915 worth of construction has been undertaken since the Kelowna regulated building ar-

FERRY OFFICE TO BE OPENED

Occupants of Building Adjoining Ferry Wharf Given Notice

Occupants of the provincial government-owned building adjoining the ferry wharf have been given notice to vacate the house which will be made into a ferry office, it was learned this morning. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Middleton have been living in the house for some years. Mr. Middleton is mayor on the Kelowna-Westbank ferry.

It is understood the structure will be used as an office for ferry clerk where records, stores and equipment will be kept.

WANTS BUILDING BYLAW AMENDED FOR QUONSETS

J. I. Monteith Says Quonset Steel Buildings Are Becoming Popular

Request that City Council amend the building bylaw to permit construction of quonset steel buildings in Kelowna, was made by J. I. Monteith, manager of Kelowna Builders Supply, on Monday night. Mr. Monteith said the quonset is the new type of building, and he introduced D. O. C. Byng-Hall, Vancouver engineer, to members of the council. He pointed out in view of the fact quonset buildings are something new in the way of construction, provision has not been made in the building bylaws for the structures. He pointed out they are becoming increasingly popular, especially for commercial purposes. Architectural fronts can be adapted to the owners' needs so that they blend in with other city buildings, he stated. The buildings, which have steel braces, can be built and occupied within 31 days, Mr. Monteith added.

Mr. Byng-Hall submitted photographs to council, showing how the buildings can be used for various types of businesses, and the aldermen were impressed with the pictures. quonset steel buildings are now being used for theatres, stores, schools, garages, movie pictures establishments, and for various other things.

Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games informed Mr. Monteith that his request would be considered when the building bylaw is amended.

COUNCIL GETS 3RD PETITION ON BOATHOUSE

Many people who signed a petition favoring the renovating of the A. J. Jones boat house into club rooms for the Kelowna Yacht Club did so when they were under the impression the city had no authority to order its removal.

This was stated in another petition received by City Council Monday night following a meeting held last Sunday by residents along the lake shore. It marked the third petition council has received in connection with the structure. The latter part of last year a petition was received asking its removal, and recently a second petition was signed by residents favoring the renovation of the structure for yacht club purposes. A personal letter also was received from W. E. Adams withdrawing his support from the petition circulated by the boat owners.

Meanwhile it was revealed by Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games that the ordering the removal of the building, was posted on the boat house on February 26. Aldermen received a letter from Mr. Jones stating he intended to appeal the order.

Nine people attended the Sunday meeting, while seven others concurred with the action taken on the matter.

Those signing the petition were: Les Kerry, George Rannard, Dr. A. S. Underhill, E. Rennie, T. F. McWilliams, Mrs. S. M. Simpson, Mrs. D. C. Kyle, W. B. Hughes-Games, D. G. Steiell, M. J. dePuyfer, E. W. Seath, H. B. Simpson, H. Jensen, G. I. Oswell, N. C. McDougall, and Dr. W. F. Anderson.

Mayor Hughes-Games suggested that these people should attend the appeal board meeting when the date is set.

M.S. PENDOZI TO UNDERGO INSPECTION

Will Be Dry-docked as Soon as Ice Disappears from Lake Okanagan

As soon as the ice disappears on Okanagan Lake, the M.S. Pendozi will be taken off the Kelowna-Westbank run so it can be overhauled. L. E. Willis, assistant public works engineer stated this morning.

Mr. Willis said it is impossible to ascertain the damage done to the ferry as a result of the lake freezing this winter, but it is believed the propeller and the rudder are bent. The vessel will be dry-docked and thoroughly inspected.

The M.S. Lequime, which underwent an overhaul the early part of the year, will be put into service. Government officials however are not taking any chances on the Lequime being damaged until most of the ice disappears.

When the ferry schedule is stepped up to handle the increased traffic depends entirely how long it takes to overhaul the Pendozi, Mr. Willis said.

MAJOR INFLUX OF TOURISTS ANTICIPATED

Expecting Full Value for Money Spent in B.C., Trade Board Informed

PUBLICITY DRIVE

Highway Billboards Will Be Removed and Replaced by Government Approved Signs

Tourist officials are expecting one of the greatest influx of travellers in the history of the province during the coming holiday season, but they will be expecting full value for the money they spend in B.C., Harold Faulkner told the executive of the Kelowna Board of Trade on Tuesday.

Mr. Faulkner, who attended a recent meeting of the B.C. Auto Courts Association in Vancouver, revealed the B.C. travel bureau will spend about $100,000 to advertise the province in newspapers and magazines in Canada and the U.S. He also stated that by 1950, all highway signs and bill boards will be removed as many of them are considered unsightly. The government is going into the sign business, and every auto court will be allowed one sign. These will be put up and maintained by the government.

The department of trade and industry also hopes to have information bureaux at all ports of entry at the international border. The federal government has been requested to keep all customs' offices open 24 hours daily.

Referring to the recent grading of auto courts, Mr. Faulkner said this has brought about a ten per cent increase in tourist accommodation. Tourist camps are graded by the star system. At present ten per cent of auto courts are rated with four stars; 26 percent third stars; 17 percent two stars; 21 percent one star, and 24 percent nil.

A move is also underway to have rates displayed inside the cabins.

CITY CURLING RINKS STILL IN RUNNING

Competing in 12th Annual Okanagan Valley Bonspiel at Vernon

Two of Kelowna's three rinks competing in the 12th annual Okanagan Valley Bonspiel at Vernon were still in the running for some of the events at the start of today's play.

Bob Grant's B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. four were going at the best clip having won five and lost three at the conclusion of the third day of play last night in the City rink. The Vernon Curling Club rink play continues all week.

A Piefer's rink has won three and lost six while Les Roadhouse's quartet have come on top in two games while dropping five. With Bob Grant are Ken Johnson, W. Darroch and Carl Stevenson. Mowat, Buchanan and J. Fairburn complete the Piefer rink. Bill Vance is skipping the Roadhouse four, which also includes Nelson Clow and Fred Clarke.

Condition of George S. Sutherland, resting in Vernon Hospital, this morning was described as improving. The Kelowna baker collapsed Monday while playing with a Vernon rink.

Depends Upon the Weather Engineers State

WHETHER the Okanagan Valley experiences flood conditions this year hangs in a "delicate state of balance."

This is admitted by officials of the water rights branch of the provincial government following a recent survey of snow conditions in McCulloch. Snow measurements indicate the water content is 139 per cent of the ten-year normal, and if cold, showery weather prevails during the next six weeks or two months, an above-average run-off can be expected.

At the end of February, there was 32.4 inches of snow at McCulloch, while the water content was 6.6 inches. This compares with a water content of 6.0 inches last year, and 6.4 inches in 1947. However, last year the spring thaw was unusually late. The Trout Creek survey showed a total of 35.7 inches of snow, with a water content of 8.5 inches. This compares with a water content of 6.3 inches last year, and a nine-year average of 4.9 inches.

Alarmed over lack of action on the part of the provincial government to clean out the bed of Mission Creek and also strengthen the stream's banks, City Council Monday night sent a telegram to Hon. F. C. Carson, provincial minister of public works, urging immediate action.

This morning, Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games received a reply stating that work will get under-way immediately. Mr. Carson also expressed his confidence that Kelowna would assist in cleaning out the creek, and His Worship replied that the city would co-operate to the fullest extent.

Provided an above-average run-off prevails during the next few weeks, coupled with the anticipated work on Mission Creek, flood conditions may be overcome. But, it's a big BUT, it all depends upon the weather-man. Dealing with flood hazards in the Okanagan, the water rights branch states the soil must still be believed to be well saturated, and many streams now have a water carrying capacity less than that of last year, having been choked with material brought down in the last freshet.

"In the Okanagan watershed, the hydrologic situation is in rather a delicate state of balance, with the above-normal snowpack, comparatively moist ground conditions and considerable snow at low elevations. If these conditions persist until the main spring thaw, floods could occur in this basin. Whether they do or not, therefore, depends entirely on the weather from now on," the water rights report stated.

Dealing with snow conditions in general, the report stated precipitation in the Columbia basin is slightly less than normal and an average summer run-off is possible. In the East Kootenay, precipitation is above a ten-year normal and an above average run-off may occur. Snow surveys taken in West Kootenay show an above-average fall. However the inflow to Kootenay Lake has increased as much as 50 percent in the last ten days. There has been little melting below 3,000 feet and elevation and authorities are confident this snow at low elevations will provide ample inflow to the depleted Kootenay Lake before the freshest period.

Above Average In the Okanagan, snow surveys near Kamloops on the Peace and McCulloch show an average water content about 123 percent of last year; 120 percent of 1947, and about 139 percent of the ten-year average. If the present conditions persist, the remainder of the winter, a summer run-off well above average should occur," the report stated.

Above-average run-offs also are indicated at Similkameen, North Thompson and Skeena.

Referring to flood hazards, the report states "Very little can be added to the text of last month's snow bulletin. The amount of snow throughout the province is still well above normal and the low snow is persisting in some areas. On the other hand, in others, the thaw of the past week has afforded considerable relief by bringing off large quantities of low snow."

VALUE OF LAND, IMPROVEMENTS JUMPS SHARPLY

Total assessed value of land and improvements in Kelowna has more than doubled during the last four years, finance chairman, J. J. Ladd informed City Council Monday evening.

Assessed value in 1945 was $8,969,120.50 compared with $13,236,444.61 this year. The largest increase was noted this year after the city was re-assessed in 1948. Value of land and improvements last year was $10,968,313.75, whereas the 1949 figure shows a jump of $2,267,870.86. An increase of $20,325.00 was noted in 1946; $2,121,772.00 in 1947, and $1,257,096.25 in 1948.

While council was sympathetic, it was pointed out there is little the city can do about the matter, as there is nothing in the building bylaw to prevent the construction of a house.

As long as plumbing, heating and sanitary installations meet with city requirements, there is nothing council can do, one alderman stated.

Present bylaw calls for a minimum cost of $750, but aldermen agreed this is out of line in view of present day building costs. In addition, a home-owner cannot build on a lot less than 6,000 square feet.

"It is true that with a reduction in the time to arrive at the Vancouver market it might be possible to move slightly towards more advanced maturity, but whatever could be done in this regard, must be uniform to all," he continued.

Fluctuating market requirements is also another factor, Mr. Lloyd pointed out. "The weather is one of the principal factors to contend with in marketing soft fruit crops. A non-seasonable hot spell could reduce home-canning as much as 50 percent during that period. We therefore run the risk of having on hand a maturity that is suitable only for one market and heavy losses might be incurred if that outlet was flooded with fruit at an advanced stage of maturity."

"Further, it has yet to be proven that the long road haul is preferable to iced railway transportation, provided carrying charges are competitive."

POLICE HEADS CONFER WITH CITY COUNCIL

Deputy commissioner R. Peachey, B.C. Provincial Police, and Inspector J. McClintock, Penticton, conferred with City Council this afternoon to discuss the new police agreement.

The conference got underway shortly before press time. Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games is expected to make a full report of the meeting at next Monday night's council meeting.

PROTEST MADE OVER BUILDING $3,300 HOUSE

Leon Avenue Home Owners Claim Structure would Lower Property Value

Property owners on Leon Ave. between Ethel and Richter Streets have lodged a complaint with City Council over a resident building a $3,300 house in that district. A petition, signed by ten ratepayers, pointed out that the majority of home-owners have built houses costing between $7,000 and $9,000. It was claimed that a $3,300 house would tend to lower the value of property, and that it would also create a precedent.

While council was sympathetic, it was pointed out there is little the city can do about the matter, as there is nothing in the building bylaw to prevent the construction of a house.

As long as plumbing, heating and sanitary installations meet with city requirements, there is nothing council can do, one alderman stated.

Present bylaw calls for a minimum cost of $750, but aldermen agreed this is out of line in view of present day building costs. In addition, a home-owner cannot build on a lot less than 6,000 square feet.

Opening of New Highway Will Not Provide Outlet For Produce, Says Lloyd

Opening of the Hope-Princeton highway on Labor Day, will not provide a made-to-order outlet for mature and ripe fruit products on the Vancouver market, A. K. Loyd, president and general manager, B. C. Tree Fruits, warned today.

He made the statement to correct public opinion that the coast market will be brought within a few hours of the Okanagan once the 12 million dollar highway is opened.

Mr. Loyd cited the peach crop as an example. "We now have about 2,000,000 cases to pack and distribute," he stated. "You cannot handle a crop of this size unless you pack it at a maturity which will ship at least the average distance to our market. It is skipping the time of packing, the destination of the particular package. If this is so, then maturity must be uniform for all growers and shipping houses, and you cannot discard one person's fruit because it is too mature or beyond shipping stage, and at the same time salvage the fruit of

A Shocking Situation

The Courier has been informed that the value of the buildings erected in the regulated rural area during the past two years has never been added to the assessment rolls and, therefore, has never been taken into consideration in estimating the assessed value of the rural areas for school taxation purposes.

In the Kelowna regulated rural area between January 1, 1947, and February 28, 1949, 893 building permits were issued for a construction value of $2,185,915. It is common knowledge that the construction permit figures are always considerably lower than the cost of construction as the actual value of the improvements erected in that area during that period may be assumed to be considerably more than the figure quoted. However, taking the construction figure alone, it means that the residents of the regulated area did not pay school taxes on approximately $1,500,000 as for school purposes improvements are assessed at seventy-five per cent of the value.

But the Kelowna regulated area does not take in all the rural area of School District No. 23. From Reid's Corner north to Oyama and the entire westside of the lake south beyond Peachland is included in the school district. Is there any reason to assume that the new construction in the school area outside the rural regulated area has been placed on the school assessment roll? On the contrary, the reasonable assumption must be that none, or, at best, very little, of the new construction in School District 23 has been placed on the roll.

The effect of this is simply that the City of Kelowna pays a higher percentage of the cost of education in the school district than it should. Indeed, the matter is made considerably worse by the fact that the City of Kelowna's assessment figures are up-to-date and do include $2,265,470 taxable assessments on improvements in the city during the years 1947 and 1948. With the city figures up-to-date while those of the rural area more than two years behind, the basis of comparison of assessment figures for school taxation purposes is grossly unfair.

Actually on the figures which will be used this year for school taxation purposes, the rural area will be considerably more than $1,500,000 short of its real value while Kelowna will have added $2,265,470. In other words there is a discrepancy as of this date of about $1,000,000. If the rural assessment is as far behind as two years, then, surely, to be fair, the city's assessment of two years ago should be used and not the up-to-date figures of 1948.

Finance Minister Anscomb in presenting his budget to the Legislature placed considerable emphasis upon the assistance the province is giving the municipalities, but this situation results from a direct weakness in Mr. Anscomb's own department. The provincial assessor in this area is simply unable to cover the area for which he is responsible.

He is, in fact, years behind in his work simply because his territory is much too large and there has been a building boom in it. This situation but emphasizes the complaint that has been made locally for some years. With the amount of construction being undertaken in the unorganized areas in the Central Okanagan, there should be a provincial assessor located here.

The assessment situation alone is surely enough to cause the Kelowna City Council to cast a jaundiced eye on the share of educational costs in this district which the city is asked to bear.

Carson's Highway Program

The people of British Columbia last Friday must have received considerable satisfaction from the highway construction program announced by Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Public Works, in the Legislature. The highway program included $30,000,000 new construction over a period of three years and another $4,000,000 for bridge construction. This is, of course, in addition to the usual maintenance work which will cost $4,300,000 this year.

A good yardstick of the improvement in our highway system is the paving mileage. Mr. Carson stated that last year 283 miles were paved and that the paving schedule for this year is 375 miles at a cost of $4,000,000.

The construction program is of so wide and varied a nature that no part of the province is left unaffected. As far as the residents of the Interior are concerned, highway improvement is in evidence which ever direction they may look. In the Okanagan itself, the three-year program includes the near completion of reconstruction of the entire Okanagan highway from the border to Sicamous and the Vernon Kamloops cut-off. They will be affected, too, by the considerable amount of work now planned on the Trans-Canada between Hope and Revelstoke, and that on the Southern Trans-provincial from Osoyoos to the Alberta boundary, including the Victory Highway, a bypass through the United States between Grand Forks and Trail. However the opening of the Hope-Princeton on Labor Day should be the occasion for the major celebration by the entire Okanagan. This road will have cost about $12,000,000, but its importance can only be compared to the opening of the Fraser Canyon itself.

The improvement of highway transportation means much more than ease of travel; it has an important bearing upon the economy of the province. Every corner straightened, every mile of new pavement reduces operating costs and saves time and labor. These things applied to one vehicle may not make an impressive sum but when considered in the aggregate of all vehicles using the highways, the saving is astonishing.

Considerable satisfaction must be taken, too, from the calibre of the construction. Since Mr. Carson assumed the office of public works minister, he has laid down a policy of building our highways up to the best American standards; he would rather do less and do it well than a great mileage of inferior quality. In this he has the support of all motor vehicle operators. He is building highways to stay, not to last a year or two only.

During the past two years British Columbia has seen a vast improvement in its highway system. Mr. Carson's three-year program as announced last week would indicate that during that period we are to see a still greater improvement. Given a few more years of such progress and British Columbia will not need to take second place to any province or state insofar as highways are concerned. Mr. Carson deserves the congratulations and the support of all who are interested in better highways and the improved economic conditions that better highways can bring to any area.

"Helping" The Municipalities

In his budget address to the Legislature a few days ago, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Finance, placed a considerable emphasis upon the amount of financial assistance the municipalities are now receiving from the provincial government. As an illustration he stated that Kelowna would receive from the "Social Service and Municipal Aid" tax in the year ending March 31st, 1949, approximately $55,634.

Mr. Anscomb, of course, was putting the best face forward he could. No one blames him for that and no one denies that municipalities have received aid from the sales tax and from the assumption of an additional part of the cost of education. But Mr. Anscomb told only part of the story.

He did not point out in his Kelowna illustration that the $55,000 which Kelowna will receive from the sales tax will do the city not one iota of good. It will not relieve the city's financial picture one bit. The reason for this is simply that the city this year is asked to provide $152,800 for school purposes and this is an increase of $50,800 over 1948. In other words, almost the entire amount of the monies received from the sales tax will go for educational purposes.

While Mr. Anscomb was speaking in glowing terms of the amount of assistance the provincial government is giving the municipalities, the Kelowna City Council was studying the 1949 budget of School District 23. These figures showed that in 1948 the school district paid 46.7 per cent of the school costs while the provincial government paid 53.3 per cent and that in 1949 the district will be expected to find 57.6 per cent while the provincial government will furnish only 42.4 per cent. From these figures the City Council could only draw one conclusion: that in educational matters the provincial government is bearing actually a lesser share of the cost than in previous years.

This situation is not peculiar to Kelowna, but is general throughout the province. It has been brought about by the increase in teaching salaries, which this year boosts the cost in district 23 by $56,000. The provincial government bears no share of this increase, as it makes its grants on the "basic costs." This was a formula laid down a few years ago in the Cameron report and which failed to recognize that costs may change.

During the past few weeks newspapers have reported municipality after municipality which has refused to accept the school district's estimates. Down in the Fraser Valley they say that every $1 increase in government grants to municipalities has been offset by an increase in the taxpayer's load of more than $6. They say that in Sumas municipality school costs have risen 300 per cent and the municipality is being forced "to tax the farmers off the land." They say that in Maple Ridge school costs have jumped from $63 per pupil in 1941 to $135 this year. And so the story goes throughout the whole province.

The rising cost of education and of the teachers' salaries aspect of it cannot be blamed on Mr. Anscomb, but educational costs these days are playing a very important part in the municipal financing picture and when Mr. Anscomb talks about the "incredible increases" given the municipalities by the provincial government, he should take into account whether or not these increases are actually doing anything to solve the municipalities' financial problems. At the moment it would seem that the only practical manner in which these problems can be reduced would be by the provincial government taking over a greater percentage of educational costs, or, at least, revising the now very out-dated "basic cost" schedule on which it bases its grants for educational purposes. The school levy this year in Kelowna will be something more than 23 mills, more than half the entire rate of last year! This figure is much too high for any one department and educational costs are now reaching a point we cannot afford. The municipalities surely cannot be blamed for deprecating Mr. Anscomb's remarks about the assistance they are given by Victoria. What is needed is more, much more assistance, particularly in regards to the costs of education.

Salada Proves Point

The renewal by Salada Tea Company of Canada Ltd. of its annual advertising contract with the Courier would not rate mention in this column except for two significant facts: Salada is the acknowledged leader in its field and it has confined its advertising exclusively to newspapers for 50 successive years.

These two facts, taken together, are proof that regular attractive newspaper advertising of a high quality product can, and will, do a notable sales job.

The Courier has had the privilege of publishing the Salada Tea Company's advertising for a good many of those 50 years; so many in fact that ordinary business records do not go back far enough to show when Salada first started advertising in the Courier.

Within the experience of Salada with consistent thoughtful advertising there must be seeds of thought for the merchants of Kelowna and district, particularly in these days when the "sellers' market" is nearing its end. Merchandising is now returning, at rapid pace, to to day when the storekeepers will have to find ways and means of attracting people to their shops so they can show them the goods that are for sale. That can best be done—as Salada has proved—by attractive, consistent advertising in newspapers such as the Courier.

BRIEF DORMANT SPRAY PERIOD ANTICIPATED

Fruit Growers Are Advised to Check Spray Machinery Immediately

Fruit growers would be well advised to check spray machinery immediately, as the dormant spraying season, this year may be a short one, Ben Hoy, supervising horticulturist, stated this week. In spite of the snow which is still lying in orchards, Mr. Hoy said buds will be bursting within a few days of their normal time—about the first week in April.

Of interest to growers, The Courier is publishing the following statement from Mr. Hoy, regarding clean-up sprays.

Export Markets
"It is essential to the fruit industry of B.C. to retain our export markets. Many of the countries that buy our fruit insist that the fruit must come from scale free districts. In order to check on the success of control measures, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has supplied inspectors to inspect the apples for scale as they go over the grades. This annual check up has indicated that many growers have done a splendid job in reducing the amount of scale in their orchards by the use of dormant sprays.

Though the amount of scale has been materially reduced, there are very few that have eliminated it entirely. This scale, because of being capable of producing several broods in a season, builds up rapidly, therefore it is essential in scale infested districts to dormant spray annually with lime sulphur and oil formula No. 5 on your spray calendar) to keep this insect under control.

"The dormant spray is also valuable to the orchardist for the control of European Red Mite, Blister Mite, European Scale and to assist in the control of Pear Psylla.

"The degree of control depends on thoroughness of application. All of the insects mentioned are very tiny, the San Jose Scale being about the size of the head of a common pin and smaller. These small insects may be anywhere on the tree, from the trunk to the uppermost tips of the branches. When a few square inches on a tree are not covered with spray, if there happens to be scale in that spot, there is the nucleus for re-infestation. That is why so many are disappointed when they receive a letter notifying them that some scale still exists in their orchards after applying a dormant spray. The elimination of any insect pest from an orchard in a single year is seldom accomplished by any spray. Thoroughness and painstaking effort is the key to success.

Blossom Time
"The winter has been a long one, and there is still a great deal of snow in the orchards. Weather conditions at the present time are misleading in that that spring and summer seem a long way off. In spite of the snow and cold now, buds will be bursting within a few days of their normal time—about the first week in April.

"After new growth starts there is danger of injury with dormant sprays. The season for dormant spraying may be a short one, so spray machinery, hoses, guns, etc., should be checked over now, and entirely. This scale, because of being capable of producing several broods in a season, builds up rapidly, therefore it is essential in scale infested districts to dormant spray annually with lime sulphur and their conditions permit."

OYAMA CHURCH GROUPS OBSERVE DAY OF PRAYER

OYAMA—The women's World Day of Prayer which is held annually, was observed this year by the women of the two church groups in Oyama last Friday. The service was held in St. Mary's Anglican Church with Mrs. A. H. Lett, president, leading the service. Mrs. E. Hunter, of the United Ladies Aid, gave the address, the subject being "Where Does the Money Go?" Several different members of each group gave special prayers. About 30 women attended, with several Winfield visitors also present. After the service, the women went to the village for tea and had an enjoyable social time. Mrs. V. E. Ellison, Mrs. S. Holton, Mrs. H. A. Tucker and Mrs. C. Pothecary convinced the tea. The regular meeting of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary was then held with Mrs. Lett in the chair.

OTTAWA REPORT

By O. L. JONES, M.P.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following news report from Ottawa is one of a series by O. L. Jones, M.P., in which he will report the doings of Parliament for his constituents. The reports are carried with only one stipulation: that they be news reports and not editorialization; that they be non-partisan and not politically "slanted." The Editor reserves the right to edit any such infraction of that stipulation.)

The public galleries have been taxed to full capacity during the last three days, with people who came to listen to what had been expected to be a first class debate on what is now well known as the Hong Kong letter. This letter was written by Mr. Drew to the then Premier (Mr. Mackenzie King) in 1942. It contained certain charges against the administration for its conduct of the Hong Kong enquiry. Claiming that the minister of justice (Mr. St. Laurent) had made indecent and improper use of the R.C.M.P. the letter proceeds to tell of charges made by the minister against a man then in public office. Mr. Drew charged that the minister had not proceeded with the case, nor had the decency to withdraw, or apologize for the charge. The letter referred to, according to the prime minister, cannot be made public because the British government, which was involved, would not give consent, as it would give a clue to a military code, but I rather think the M.P. meant that the documents, of which this letter was a part, could not be published in full. Anyway, Mr. Drew has now released to the press the letter, which he wrote in 1942. Its publication has not produced the explosion one was led to believe would take place on its publication. Mr. Drew, in his Montreal speech, is reported to have said, "Make no mistake about it, we are fighting for personal and economic freedom here in Canada. We are in danger of losing that fight to the bureaucrats who accept the basic philosophy of Karl Marx no matter what political name they may adopt." The prime minister read out a list of the persons classified as "Bureaucrats" by Mr. Drew. These included many well known Canadians, among them some Conservatives. When challenged to name which one was a follower of Karl Marx, Mr. Drew failed to provide the name.

According to a report in the Penticton Herald of February 10, both Vernon and Penticton are anxious to have the postal facilities increased in the respective towns. This is a matter that has had my constant attention since I was elected. Early last July the post office department, Ottawa, promised to make a complete survey of the postal services in Yale. This was undertaken early last summer. As a result Enderby, Oliver and West Summerland are already in process of getting their post offices brought up to date. This same survey disclosed the inadequate conditions in both Vernon and Penticton, as well as some of our smaller offices. Since last April, all post offices with a stamp sale over $3,000 per annum are under the jurisdiction of the public works department.

This department arranges for all rentals, repairs, and new buildings to accommodate post offices. I have made representations to this department, on behalf of our various towns, particularly the two I have just mentioned. I have reason to believe that provision will be made in the estimates for both. I have a letter written on March 1 from Mr. Fournier, minister of public works, which says that these offices are receiving consideration. But he regrets to say, however, that until the estimates are tabled in parliament, it is not known just what provision will be made for these projects.

The greatest percentage of population increase in Canada took place in our riding, making our static postal facilities totally inadequate.

Mayor Hughes-Games Suggests Work On Reconstructing Oliver Syphon Should Get Underway Immediately

STILL MISS X MANCHESTER — (CP) — After an injection of pentothal (truth drug), a woman found with lost memory here recently told police she used to work at Manchester Food Office. Officials were brought to see her, but could not identify her.

SUGGESTION that work on reconstructing the Oliver syphon be undertaken immediately government engineers commenced carrying out the recommendations of the joint engineers' report on Okanagan flood control, was made by Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games in a letter to K. W. Morton, district engineer, department of public works.

The mayor stated the inconveniences to the bottom land owners at Oliver would be far less if the water was got away quickly, even though they are badly flooded this spring, instead of having a long drawn out semi-flood condition lasting through into winter.

His Worship also pointed out that valuable land around Kelowna would again be sacrificed this year to save less valuable hay land around Oliver and Osoyoos, unless prompt action is taken.

Mayor Hughes-Games declared that Kelowna district would not be affected by high water were it not for the artificial dam at Pentlitz.

Text of Letter

"It must be gratifying to you as it is to us to know that the provincial government are going to take their share of the implementation of the joint engineer's report on the Okanagan flood control. We look forward now to hearing officially from your department that this work will be immediately undertaken.

"However, we realize that any work undertaken this year cannot be expected to deal with this spring's runoff of water and the question is a matter of a great deal of concern to residents of this city and district. You will appreciate that a natural runoff of water would never be a threat to us in this area as late high water here is only caused by the storage of the water by artificial dam at Pentlitz. As we understand it, this is done for two reasons, first, to provide water for irrigation of the South Okanagan districts, and secondly, to prevent undue flooding of land in these districts.

Strong Representations

"My council has had many strong representations from local public bodies and individuals on this matter, and what sticks in their mind after experiencing the conditions, during 1948, is that the highly valuable land in and around this city which sells anywhere from one thousand to three thousand dollars an acre and for the most part is improved with high class residences and valuable buildings, is being sacrificed to save much less valuable land in the South Okanagan along the course of the Okanagan River and the bottom hay land in Oliver and Osoyoos.

"They point out that if the flood water was allowed to flow in a less interrupted manner that this land in the South Okanagan might be under water for a month to six weeks while under the present method of holding the water in the lake, this valuable land is under water at varying depths from two to four months, or in some cases more.

"We realize that one of the main reasons for holding the water back last year was the threat to the Oliver syphon. They suggest that this should be immediately reconstructed so that flood waters will no longer threaten it. We are confronted with the possibility of 1949 being a repetition of 1948, and if so, the damage that will be done in this district will again far outweigh the cost of reconstructing this syphon.

Reconstruct Syphon

"We imagine that under the joint engineer's plan this syphon will have to be reconstructed. We, therefore, respectfully suggest that as soon as this work of implementation of the report is authorized, one of the first things that should be done is to do the work on the Oliver syphon.

"We would also like to submit that the inconvenience to the bottom land owners at Oliver will be far less if they get their water away quickly than if they are kept having a long drawn out semi-flood condition lasting right into the winter as they had last year.

"My council would like you to go very carefully into this matter because they are determined at all costs to try and prevent a repetition of 1948.

"We will be glad to hear your comments on this at an early date."

EUROPEAN DP NOW PREACHER IN MANITOBA

Harrowing War Experiences End With Arrival; Husband Still in Europe

WINNIPEG (CP)—Artists, clergymen, ballet and folk dancers, musicians and singers are among the displaced persons who have come to Winnipeg. Now a woman preacher has joined them.

She has preached in her native tongue in the Ukrainian United Church here, although she is fast learning English. Her name is Mrs. Lydia X. She does not use her last name because her husband, an ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church, is a prisoner of the Communists in Siberia.

Their seven-year-old son is with his mother. Both are guests of a clergyman in Winnipeg.

Mrs. Lydia has preached at Gorman and Ashfield, where there are Ukrainian settlements. It took two years of correspondence to arrange through the International Refugee Organization and the Canadian government for the young woman to come to Canada.

Meaning Rev. Russell T. Hall, who with his wife is host to the woman preacher, had moved from Geraldton, Ont., to First Presbyterian Church here. The mission board of the United Church eventually will give the young woman a posting.

Mrs. Lydia explains she is happy, despite her tragic story, because "500,000 DPs would like to come to Canada and I'm already here."

Mrs. Lydia and her husband were brought up as Roman Catholics. When they met Rev. Basil Kusiw, American-born Ukrainian, who headed the Presbyterian missions in the Ukraine, they became Protestants.

Worked in Bush

Her husband was a minister in his church and she herself secretary. When the Second World War broke out, the Russians clamped down on the church. Mrs. Lydia and her husband did bush work and were employed in ammunition plants.

They managed to stay together until 1945, when the liberating Allied armies set great migrations of people on the move. The way to freedom for the couple lay through Czechoslovakian forests.

"The Bolsheviks, however, jumped out of the woods, shot at us, raided our carts. All of us were gradually seized by dreadful panic and fear. We were just coming into the town of Czesky Brod when we were robbed of our property and money, forwarded to the Red Army as booty.

"Even our carts were taken from us, and we had to walk. The way was marked with blood from the injured feet of women and children. From word received from other Ukrainians, she believes he was taken to Siberia. But she was not taken. She wandered by foot, with her child ill with typhoid in her arms, through many miles of Austria until she crossed one night into the American zone and safety.

Her mother and sister are in Poland. But she can get no reply to her letters.

BRITISH TYPE RAIL SAFER AND CHEAPER

LONDON (CP)—After 12 years of experiment British railways are to have a new type of rail, said to make for safer, quieter travel and to be more economical than existing track.

Sir Eustace Missenden, chairman of the Railway Executive, said the new flat-bottom rail will be installed gradually on 31,000 miles of lines. About 500 miles already have been laid experimentally.

The traditional track is something like a figure eight with a flat base. The new type resembles an inverted "T". It is heavier and costs more, but is expected to result in long-term economies.

A mile of the new track, employing baseplates instead of chairs, requires 16,900 fewer components than the old-style "bull head" track. "On the continent and in United States and Canada, it is customary to have thousands of miles spiked directly to the sleepers (ties) without baseplates," Missenden said. "We are using baseplates because they prolong the life of the sleepers."

Bylaw Covering Cost of Repairing And Reconstructing Princeton Ave. Is Withdrawn By Peachland Council

PEACHLAND — The regular meeting of the municipal council was held Thursday afternoon of last week. Rev. H. S. McDonald and K. Doml waited on the council to request a grant for the handyman's club for 1949. Mr. McDonald outlined the work of the club and its financial needs. After some discussion the council decided to give a grant of $50.

J. T. Garraway waited on the council to request permission to have an entrance and road from Princeton Ave. into the upper part of his lake shore property.

This permission was granted. The cost will be borne by Mr. Garraway. Rev. C. O. Whinton remarked about the various estimates regarding the population of Peachland municipality. Regarding library requirements, health department, and the M.M. & S. 3%, and it was decided to appoint C. R. Haker as enumerator, to make a count of the inhabitants of the Municipality of Peachland. The following resolution repealing bylaw No. 245, was passed: "whereas bylaw no. 245, a money bylaw for the authorization of the spending of $12,000 for the reconstruction and hard surfacing of Princeton Ave., was voted on by the ratepayers of the Municipality of Peachland, and received the assent of the electors on the 29th day of March, 1947, was finally passed by the council and voted on by the ratepayers of the Municipality of Peachland, on the 3rd day of April, 1947, and registered at the County Court, Vernon, B.C., the 10th day of April, 1947;

"And whereas it was deemed inexpedient by the municipal council of 1947 and 1948 to proceed with the work authorized under this bylaw No. 245;

"And whereas the reeve and council of 1949 considered it expedient to proceed with the work authorized by the bylaw No. 245;

"Therefore be it resolved that the money bylaw No. 245 is hereby repealed by this council in open meeting assembled, and that the assent of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to the repealing of this bylaw be requested as per requirements of the municipal act."

Three hundred and ninety feet of boiler pipe will be ordered for curbs. A letter was received from F. W. Vernon resigning from the office of assessor and this was accepted.

A letter was received from the P.T.A. asking the two representatives from the council be appointed on the committee for May 24 activities. Councillors G. Birkeland and C. F. Bradley were appointed as representatives. A cheque for $4,500 had been received from the government for the lake frontage property.

Councillor F. Khalembach gave a report on the roads. He spoke of cribbing for the bad spot on Mill Hill Road to the bridge at Deep Creek, opposite Block 8, D.L. 221. Councillor Khalembach will get information as to what is required for road repairs below Block 8, D.D. 221. Shading of roads is necessary and that such pedlars have not been and dump trucks should be used.

Removal of a corner on Princeton Avenue near E. A. Baptist lot, would be very expensive, about $1,000. Reeve Whinton drew the attention of the council to the extraordinary traffic on the Trepanier Road (logging trucks) and expressed the opinion that the provincial government should bear part of the cost of this road.

ACTIVE CHURCH WORKER BURIED AT PEACHLAND

PEACHLAND—Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Ferguson, who passed away in the Kamloops hospital, Sunday, February 27, were held in the United Church, Peachland, Rev. H. S. McDonald officiating.

Pallbearers were J. Cameron, H. E. Keating, S. G. Dell, G. Long, J. P. Long and A. E. Ruffie. Burial took place in the Peachland cemetery.

Mrs. Ferguson was born in Mindemootie, Ont., 1871, and came to Peachland May 2, 1902. She was the first president of the ladies' circle of the Methodist Church founded in 1909. Mrs. Ferguson and her husband, Alexander D. Ferguson, who predeceased her in 1940, were both interested workers in the church and Sunday School. She left Peachland in 1944 to go to Chicago to reside with her son, Hugh. In 1946, she was taken ill and confined to the Kamloops Hospital until her death. She is survived by a son, Hugh, of Chase; six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

LICE ATTACK PEANUT CROP

DURBAN, South Africa—Peanut farmers in the Transvaal and the northern Free State are faced with serious losses as a result of an unprecedented invasion of their crops by virus-carrying lice. Insecticides are of no use in some areas where the poor condition of the crops does not warrant high expenditure. Farmers first noticed bald patches developing in their lands. Inspection revealed masses of lice slowly killing the plants.

An official of the division of entomology said that peanut lice every year took their toll, but owing to the prolonged drought and sudden heavy rains they seem to be much more prolific this year.

During the long drought peanut plants wilted and became susceptible to attacks by insects and pests. As soon as the rains came they recovered rapidly, but the rains also brought an increase in the pests.

HEALTH MENACE EDMONTON (CP)—Peddling of fish from door to door is frowned on in Edmonton by Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health. Major objections are that fish being sold that may be wormy, whitefish and that such pedlars have not been licensed.

ATHLETIC BODY AT PEACHLAND NAMES OFFICERS

PEACHLAND—The annual meeting of the Peachland Athletic Association was held in the Municipal Hall. New officers were: F. Topham, Jr., president; J. G. Sanderson, vice-president; D. Miller, secretary-treasurer; executive, J. Mohler; Mr. G. W. Munro, P. C. Gerrie, Mrs. G. R. Topham, A. J. Mash, Mrs. V. M. Cousins, V. M. Cousins. A member will also be appointed from the students' council to act on the executive.

He explained that he had very little to report as he had only been in that position since J. H. Wilson had left for the coast. A few which drives had been put on and the hall had been rented for some dances. The association had not sponsored dances as it had been difficult to get an orchestra, he said.

He thanked the secretary, Mrs. G. R. Topham, and the board, for their co-operation and work.

Annual dance will be held on April 22. After some discussion it was decided to hold a membership drive, and tell people how the association is trying to stimulate interest. When funds are available, it is hoped to make some improvements to the inside of the hall.

Tommy Griffith Chosen Boxla Head; Sees Great Year for Popular Sport

A banner season for boxla has been promised by the new president, T. G. (Tommy) Griffith, chosen for the post at last week's executive meeting.

"We realize this first year with an indoor box will be an important one and our enthusiastic executive will be doing everything possible to emulate the success of the hockey club," said the new boxla chief.

The Kelowna Lacrosse Club head, who succeeds E. R. (Boss) Oatman, said the club has several applications from players from the coast and the Kootenays. "We hope to have a smart senior aggregation this year, but character as well as playing ability of all players will be looked into before any are brought here," Griffith said.

Purchase of complete new equipment is planned to make the Kelowna Bruins the "smartest looking outfit in the league and a credit to Kelowna." Another executive spokesman said that while applications from outside players will be considered, chances are most of last year's players will be on the roster again this year.

Consider Coach. Vital question of a coach is under serious consideration. Last year's playing coach, Roy Pinder, has not been mentioned as mentor this year, it has been learned unofficially. However, it is understood Pinder would be welcome to return to Kelowna from Richmond as a player.

Griffith was one of four men added to the original executive of eight elected at a special meeting.

February 21. The other three are: Bill Spear, Percy Dowling and Jack Fairburn. Alderman Dick Parkinson also may be added to the ruling body.

The original eight included: Guy DeHart, George Kennedy, Jack Wilson, Earl Wilson, Eric Holland, Henry Barnett, Ken Parks and Herb Capozzi. Pat Talbot and Louis Rampone are player representatives on the directorate.

Other officers chosen at last week's executive meeting are: Earl Wilson, vice-president; J. Poole, secretary; G. DeHart, treasurer.

Following are the committees set up by the new president (first named is chairman):

Purchasing and equipment — E. Wilson, H. Capozzi, K. Parks. Secretary — J. Fairburn, E. Holland, J. Poole. Raffle — T. Griffith, E. Wilson, P. Dowling, K. Parks. Arena — H. Barnett, G. DeHart. Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games was chosen honorary president; R. J. Stewart and P. Capozzi, honorary vice-presidents.

Tuesday nights will be weekly home nights for senior boxla, Griffith said.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sardar the Hon. Hardit Singh Malik, high commissioner for India, found Vancouver's ice-covered Lost Lagoon no substitute for a grassy green golf course, when he visited here recently. "Skating is fine for my youngsters, but I am too old."

Griffith said.

BOOTH SCORES WINNING GOAL FOR VERNON

Vernon Canadians Force Third Game by Beating Kimberley 7-3

Special to The Kelowna Courier. VERNON—A major and a minor penalty paved the way for Itoed Booth to complete a three-way passing play with Dave McKay and Buzz Mellor to give the Vernon Canadians a 4-3 win over Kimberley here Friday night and knot the best-of-three B.C. senior B. hockey semi-finals at one apiece.

The winning marker came at 18:57 of the final chapter while three Kimberley pucksters fought vainly to stave off Vernon power plays. Benny Ridsky was lost for five minutes and Eddie Semien was sitting out a two-minute sentence.

It took the Kootenay champs less than 10 minutes to jump into the lead but the count was deadlocked a minute later.

The lid blew off midway through the fixture when Kenny McIntyre ran into goalie Cliff Kilburn. Kilburn retaliated by grabbing him, throwing him to the ice and hailing him with blows. After the air had cleared, referee Kenny Stewart warned McIntyre to the sin-bin and let the Kimberley player off scot-free.

Showered the Ice

The fans didn't take to this kindly. Programs, papers and anything they could lay their hands on flew on the ice as a roar of catcalls and boos echoed heard in the Vernon Civic Arena greeted the decision.

The game was held up while the ice was cleared amid continued shouting of protests.

Less than a minute later George Keryluk and Butch Zak started pushing and arguing. They were promptly banished as Stewart and Eddie Witt tried to get the game under control again.

With the score reading 3-all going into the finale, the Canucks poured on the coal, forcing Kimberley Legion to shoot the disc up the ice frequently. Booth became the hero of the game when he flipped the rubber over the prostrate Kilburn for the deciding counter, while Kimberley were short two men.

Kimberley ought to win. Kelowna could take that old bunch of Kimberley players in a longer series.

They wouldn't have the stuff to last out.

C: Maybe so. . . Yeh, maybe you're right. . . But what then was the reason for Vernon losing Saturday?

They didn't seem up to par.

Bears Hold Off Vernon To Gain Playoff Spot; Semi-Finals Open Friday

KELOWNA 51, VERNON 50

PLAYOFF fever in senior B basketball ranks is in the city, with the crisis due on Friday night at the Scout Hall when Kelowna Bears take on the Vernon Vets in the first of their two-game total-point semi-final for the Interior Basketball Association championship.

Second game will be played in Penticton. Kelowna Bears narrowly made the playoffs Tuesday when they were given the series by the Vernon Young Liberals on the latter's home floor. The determined hometowners came back strong in the last quarter to pull within one point of tying the Bears.

By virtue of the 51-50 victory, Roy Longley's crew held on to the fourth and last playoff berth. A win for Vernon would have pulled the Liberals into a tie with Kelowna for fourth place, forcing an additional playoff to pick a winner.

As it is, one extra playoff series already had to be run off between Penticton and Princeton for second spot. But in the two-game series concluded this week Penticton boys out, relegating the Princeton boys to their place. Penticton and the league-leading Kamloops Rainbows will meet in a two-game total-point series in the other league semi-final, with the first game at Penticton.

Winners of the two semi-finals will meet in a similar series with the last game at the home of the team that ended with the higher league standing.

Late Starting
Tuesday night, at Vernon, the Bears didn't start rolling until the second quarter when they erased a 11-9 deficit at the end of the first 10 minutes to take a 25-21 lead at half. Jimmy Weddell potted five field goals in a row to show the field goals in the second quarter.

Bears maintained a slight edge in the third cant, outscoring the Liberals 12-9 for a 37-30 margin going into the last quarter. Otto Munk and Bill Koshman started scoring from almost impossible angles and before the Kelowna five knew it their lead had melted away with the snow.

A spine-tingling last minute drive by both squads kept the fans on the edge of their seats, but when the wire was reached the Bears were ahead by a whisker in a photo finish.

Big Herb Capozzi was high man for the night with 18 points, followed by Koshman with 15 and another Vernonite, Otto Munk, with 13. Vernonite Otto Munk, with 13. Ron Gee and Jim Weddell picked up 10 points apiece for the Bears.

Inter B Prelim
Game time for the first of the semis here Friday night is 9 o'clock. In the preliminary, Kelowna Dynamoes and Rutland will tangle in the first of a two-game total-point series for the northern interior intermediate B championship. Previously Rutland had beaten Kamloops and the Dynamoes had ousted Summerland from the playoffs.

KELOWNA—Saucier 6, Gee 10, Car-Hilton, Tostenson 2, J. Weddell 10, Capozzi 18, Ferguson 5, Ardell—Total 51.

VERNON—McVickers 3, Barnett 8, O. Munk 13, A. Munk 9, Koshman 15, S. Sammartino 2.

The lithe Norwegian made the jump twice on the hill, the biggest in North American history, and received a tremendous ovation from the more than 3000 spectators.

Noel Paul of Kimberley, Canadian four-way champion last year, topped the jump of 229 feet.

Joe Koenig, who has won the Class "A" jumpers took part in the competition. Third man of the six was Tom Mobraaten of Vancouver, who as a Canadian, had established a North American record with 230 feet.

Besides the Olympic champion, Husted is also a national title, which he won at Denver two weeks ago.

Sunday's jumping marked the first time since 1934 that a Canadian had as allowed jumps of more than 200 feet. Nels Nelson, for whom the hill is named, established the first world record ever established by a Canadian. His leap of 240 feet was made on a hill.

The new hill was in poor condition Sunday due to warm weather. On his first jump Husted cleared the 214-foot mark. Paul went 208 and Koenig, before he made 229 feet. Mobraaten's score was 227.

228 and 204. Jack Rocco of Vancouver placed fourth in the competition with 224, 222, 203. Art Johnson of Revelstoke was 10th man in class "A" with 215, 215, 187.

Chester Wrynack was the only Kelowna competitor. He made a nice first jump in the Class B event but on the second try suffered a slight leg injury when he fell breaking his skis. He is reported to be recovering satisfactorily.

Several carloads of Kelowna enthusiasts took in the show, most of whom left on Saturday and returned late Sunday. All reported the tourney as one of the finest things they have ever witnessed.

NORWAY SKIER SOARS 247 FEET AT REVELSTOKE

REVELSTOKE—Peter Husted of Konesburg, Norway, won the longest ski jump in Canada since 1934 when he soared 247 feet on the Nels Nelson Ski Hill Sunday.

The lithe Norwegian made the jump twice on the hill, the biggest in North American history, and received a tremendous ovation from the more than 3000 spectators.

Vic Franks Elected Head Of Valley Baseball Loop; League to Open April 24

Vic Franks, Kelowna sportsman, has been elected president of the new, enlarged Okanagan Valley (International) Baseball League.

The naming of the Kelowna man, who was vice-president last year, took place at the league's annual meeting at Oroville, Wash., Sunday, where the eight-team loop decided to accept two more franchises—Kamloops and probably Colucci Dam, Wash.

George Menzies, popular treasurer for the past two years of the Kelowna Red Sox, was elected league secretary-treasurer. Vice-president is Jim Kernon, Oroville. Franks succeeds Terry Cox of Penticton as president.

A move to have the league split into northern and southern divisions, with the boundary as the dividing line, received strong support even from Kelowna. However, this was defeated when put to a vote, the majority of American teams voting against it.

Ten Teams Now

Kamloops representatives, present at the meeting on their own initiative, made another appeal to enter the league. They were turned down last year, along with Princeton and Hedley.

After the decision to branch out into 10 teams, Colucci Dam was reached by telephone. Colucci, also turned down last year, agreed to turn down the tenth squad but this still had to be confirmed.

Princeton is prominently mentioned as the tenth team should Colucci decline to join.

Pentative plans call for a longer playing season, starting on April 24 and over by August 21. A schedule now is in the process of drafting.

Deadline for the $50 entry fee by each team is one week before the schedule gets under way.

Franks Misses Boat

"There have been a lot of irregularities in league matters that I will try to clean up," said Franks when he learned he had been elected president. The former president of the Kelowna Baseball Club and up their pastboards by 5 p.m. on present head of the Kelowna Boys

Athletic Club (Junior baseball body) had planned to attend the meeting, but inadvertently was left behind at the ferry wharf.

Referring to disputes that have arisen during the past few years, Franks said he would see that the bylaws of the league were adhered to strictly and enforced if need be.

Some bylaw changes were approved at the Sunday meeting. These will be incorporated with the others and copies will be made available for all teams.

Attending the meeting for Kelowna were: Dick Murray, official delegate; Menzies; Rudy and Fred Kitch and Bob Phinney.

Another general meeting of the Kelowna Baseball Club is expected to be called shortly to hear full reports on the league meeting and select a slate of directors for the ensuing year.

LUMBY-QUESNEL B.C. PLAYOFFS COME OFF HERE

Kelowna's new Memorial Arena will be the site next Monday and Tuesday of the provincial intermediate B hockey finals between Lumby Flying Freehmen and Quesnel. The series is a two-game, total goal affair.

The Merchants included many of last year's Hub City Leafs. Merchants took the first game 9-6 but Lumby came back to take the second, on Saturday night, by a 9-3 count and the series 15-12.

Some of last year's Vernon senior B team and players who started out with Vernon Canadians this year are on the Lumby line-up.

Game times both nights are 8:30. Tickets go on sale at 9 a.m. Monday. Season ticket holders must pick up their pastboards by 5 p.m. on the day of the game.

KSM'S HOME PLANNING TIP NO. 5

When you select your house plans you should mentally locate them on your lot. The house should be so arranged that the maximum light can be obtained from the sun in those rooms where it is most desired. You may find that the plan you have selected should be reversed and this fact should be clearly stated when ordering your plans. Study the general traffic system of the plan and note whether the various arrangements and facilities are suitable to your way of life. The location of the chimney is particularly important. Makes notes of minor alterations and mark them clearly on the plans before beginning construction.

Whitehorse Hockey Team Outclassed by Packers In Exhibition Fixtures

WHITEHORSE All-Stars didn't quite measure up to expectations of Kelowna hockey fans this week as they dropped an 8-5 verdict to the Kelowna Packers Tuesday night and just scraped through with a 6-6 tie against the Packers last night.

The Yukoners, who last week were eliminated by Nanaimo Clippers in the Coy Cup semi-finals at Nanaimo, were definitely outclassed by the high-flying Packers Tuesday but hit a better stride Wednesday night to come from behind and knot the count less than a minute before the end of regulation time.

Made to feel right at home here since their arrival Tuesday afternoon, the All-Stars were reluctant to leave Kelowna this morning. They departed by bus for Kamloops for an exhibition game to night against the Kamloops Elks. They hope to appear in Seattle, Wash., as well, but up to last night arrangements had not been completed.

Nanaimo Clippers, Pacific Coast champions, last night set their sights for the All-Stars. The highly-touted Kimberley Legionnaires a 7-5 trimming in the opening game of the Coy Cup finals at Nanaimo.

Meanwhile, at Medicine Hat last night, the Calgary Foothills Rovers took a two-goal lead in their two-game total-goal series for the Southern Alberta intermediate (senior B) hockey championship by defeating Medicine Hat Tigers 5-3. Winner will meet Edmonton for the Alberta title.

Manager G. R. Johnston and coach Lloyd Camyre, on behalf of the team, expressed their appreciation for the Kelowna hospitality. Their stop here was easily the highlight of their jaunt since they flew out of the Yukon city over two weeks ago, on a trip they estimated would cost them about $7,200.

A point that confused local fans in connection with the Coy Cup playoffs was explained by the Whitehorse management. The reason the team did not stop off at Prince George but flew direct to Vancouver was that they were not advised to do so until transportation arrangements had been completed.

"We didn't know we were to play in Prince George until the morning of the day we were leaving," said Coach Camyre. "By that time it was too late to change our plans. We phoned Mr. Becker at Vernon and were given the okay to go right to the coast and meet the Clippers."

It required some juggling around with playoff work out satisfactorily. The Prince George area winners—Quesnel—were at one time slated to meet the Kimberley-Vernon winners, but at the last minute were deemed not of senior

Entire World Prepares To Honor Patron Saint Of Ireland on March 17

The seventeenth of March is near at hand, and the Emerald Isle is showing her green again. . . . The reason? St. Patrick's Day is just around the corner.

It's the day when the whole world is Irish, and the story of St. Patrick comes vividly to the foreground. Many people know little or nothing about this illustrious saint, other than that he started St. Patrick's Day and drove all the snakes out of Ireland. The Encyclopedia has nothing to say about the snakes, but it does state that he is the first apostle to the green isle, and first bishop of Ireland.

Patrick was born in 389 A.D., the son of a deacon, Calpornius, and the grandson of a presbyter, Potitus. Many countries claim his birthright, but the only thing that seems sure is that he was educated at a Christian and imbued with reverence for the Roman Empire, which at that time extended to cover most of the known world.

At the age of sixteen, Patrick was carried off by a band of Irish marauders and Irish traditions represent the future apostle as tending the herds of a chiefdom by the name of Millic, near the mountain called Slieve in county Antrim.

His bondage lasted six years, after which time he escaped to the west coast of Gaul and retired to a monastery at Lerins, where he spent the next few years.

Ordained Deacon
After leaving the Mediterranean he seems to have returned home to Britain, where the idea of a missionary enterprise in Ireland came to him. He then travelled to Gaul, and there was ordained deacon with two others who were afterwards associated with him in spreading the faith in Ireland. Patrick must have spent at least four years in Gaul, as he mentions which seems to have a close connection with Britain and Ireland.

He was consecrated a bishop in 433, by Pope Celestine, and was sent to Ireland to uproot the heresy of Pelagianism, which had taken hold among the Christian communities there.

After landing on the Emerald Isle, Patrick was greeted by a gaelic chief, named Dichu, who gave him an old barn to utilize as a place of worship.

Patrick's activities were eventually to bring him in conflict with the High-King, Loagaire, a descendant of the monarch, is represented as having turned over his whole estate at Trim to the saint, to found a church, and thus the faith was established within Loagaire's territory.

The story makes Patrick challenge the royal authority by lighting the Paschal fire on the hill of Slane on the night of Easter Eve. It changed the royal decree of a pagan festival at Tara, during which no fire might be kindled until the Royal fire had been lit. A number of trials of skill between the Christian missionary and Loagaire's Druids ensued, and the final result seems to have been, that the monarch, though unwilling to embrace the foreign creed, undertook to protect the Christian Bishop. On another occasion Patrick is reported to have overthrown a famous idol known as Cenn Cruach, in the plain of Mag Slecht.

Founded Church
Patrick's work is more closely identified with the north of Ireland than with the south, although traces of his mission are to be found in Ossory and Muskerry.

There is some evidence that he made a journey to Rome, and brought back with him a valuable relic, and he founded the church and monastery of Armagh.

Some years before his death, which took place in 461, Patrick resigned his position as bishop of Armagh, and retired to Saul in Dalaradia, where he spent the remainder of his life. The place of his burial was a matter of dispute in early Ireland, but it seems most likely that he was interred at Saul.

Gravel Trucks
Mr. Henderson explained that the contract hauling of shale and gravel for the major building projects in Kelowna last year, had played havoc with roads which had never been built for such traffic. This year definite restrictions have been put on the size of the loads and the speed of the trucks. The advice of road engineers has been sought, and the foundations of the present roads tested.

In order to build roads that would stand up to present traffic, new foundations would have to be made before a surface was applied. The cost of such properly finished road would be at least $10,000 a mile, and the municipality could not finance this project at the moment.

portance to the history of Ireland and the Church in Ireland consists in the fact that he brought Ireland into touch with Western Europe and more particularly, with Rome, and that he introduced Latin into the Church as the language of the Ireland. His work consisted largely in organizing the Christian societies which he found in existence on his arrival, and in planting the faith in regions which had not yet come under the sway of the Gospel.

Today, St. Patrick's Day is observed almost all over the world. Sometimes even Scotchmen will don a bit of green and develop a brogue for March 17. In Ireland, next Thursday is a national holiday, as St. Patrick is their patron saint. In England, Scotland, Canada, Newfoundland, Australia and the United States, green will be the predominant color, with Irish coming to the foreground everywhere.

AGRICULTURAL SURVEY HEADS IN OKANAGAN

Making Overall Study of Apple Production in Interior of B.C.

Representatives of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are now in the Okanagan Valley to undertake a study of apple production in the interior. This project is part of an overall study of the industry throughout Canada, and is intended to follow closely the survey made in 1940. The party includes E. D. Woodward, H. W. Preston, R. Manery and W. Rutherford. The field men will call on a number of representative farmers in each locality of the Okanagan to obtain records of experience, production records and some information regarding management practices.

All information is confidential, and it will be used to construct an overall picture of conditions and trends as they exist in the industry as a whole.

$60,000 Ear-marked for Glenmore Water System Already Been Spent Due to Rising Cost of Materials

GLENMORE—Various problems confronting the Municipality of Glenmore were freely discussed at a ratepayers' meeting held in the board room of B.C. Tree Fruits last Monday night. Reviewing activities of the council during the past year, Reeve Charles Henderson stated that the $60,000 ear-marked for the completion of the domestic water system, had been used for the work has not been completed. Greatly increased cost of pipe is largely responsible, he said. Mr. Henderson said pipe is now on hand to extend the system in three places—across Union road from G. H. Moubrey's corner to L. Mount's property, and from the main line to R. Krenn's land. Plans are also underway to have a new main laid to connect with the Kelowna city mains at Clement avenue.

Talking on the zoning bylaw, the reeve explained council had endeavored to embody the wishes of ratepayers in the final bylaw that was drafted. Building restrictions on residential lots, rather than a minimum value. Pickers' cabins can be built for the use of orchard workers.

Gravel Trucks
Mr. Henderson explained that the contract hauling of shale and gravel for the major building projects in Kelowna last year, had played havoc with roads which had never been built for such traffic. This year definite restrictions have been put on the size of the loads and the speed of the trucks. The advice of road engineers has been sought, and the foundations of the present roads tested.

In order to build roads that would stand up to present traffic, new foundations would have to be made before a surface was applied. The cost of such properly finished road would be at least $10,000 a mile, and the municipality could not finance this project at the moment.

NEW CHURCH HEAD
Councillor Marshall, a member of the road committee, explained that they had planned to float a loan to finance a five miles of complete permanent road, but the municipal law will not permit borrowing a sufficient amount this year. One ratepayer pointed out that more money than ever is being used on the roads, but they seemed to be in worse condition. In answer to another question, Mr. Henderson pointed out that ample, thorough ditching and drainage would assuredly be part of the permanent road building program.

A request was made for speed limit signs to be erected in the V.L.A. sub-division, where the winding road brings about a danger. A letter has been sent to the member at Victoria, asking that Glenmore Drive be re-classified as a primary or secondary highway, which would then be partially financed by the province.

Mr. Hickman asked if anything further had been done to appoint a policeman to patrol the roads in the fall to check the theft of apples and boxes. The reeve felt that this was a matter better handled by the B.C.F.A., as the growers are the ones most concerned.

Fire Protection
Mr. Chapin asked if something could be done to arrange fire protection within the municipality. It was suggested that a survey be made of available sources of water to be used by the fire department, if arrangements could be made to have the brigade come out.

Mr. Hickman complained that the sewerage from the recently built homes around the Bankhead pond would make the ice unit for cutting. It was referred to the health department to investigate.

A request was made for a sidewalk and street lighting down Bankhead hill to the city limits. J. R. Hume asked if more pressure would be available this year in the domestic water system, as the on the higher levels had been without water several hours a day in last summer's heat. Ray Corner, Eastern Orthodox Church's manager of the water system, explained that the new main at Clement avenue, which was arranged for in the new contract being drawn up between Glenmore and Kelowna, should take care of this in the future.

Mr. Billeard asked if arrangements were being made to have a room for community activities incorporated in the new school building. George Hume, Glenmore's school representative, agreed that such a room was in the tentative plans, but that the community would be expected to help finance the construction of this room. Mr. Hume hoped that all Glenmore residents would turn out and support the coming school bylaw.

Council Commended
The reeve gave a brief summary of estimates of income and expenditures for the coming year. At the close of the meeting Mr. Chapin and Mr. Newman complimented the council on their year's work, and particularly commended the efficient work of the road committee, in keeping the roads so free of snow during the winter.

SAWDUST IS KEY TO POPULARITY
VANCOUVER — (CP) — Mrs. Ina Loomer is one of the most popular women in Vancouver. She's wooed with proffered gifts of nylon, expensive liquors and chocolates and even cash — and for a big reason.

As the person who dispatches 4-500 units of sawdust every month for a large sawdust firm, Mrs. Loomer this winter reached the height of her popularity as British Columbia shivered under its longest cold spell in history.

In her office, where she puts in a gruelling day that often lasts 12 hours or more, she sits among a battery of six telephones that never stop ringing.

"I go home at night, fagged out, and all I can do is dream of picking up sawdust orders and people shivering," she explains.

WOODROW, Sask. (CP)—The 225 inhabitants of this Saskatchewan town are more or less on their toes as a result of the town's purchase of some new fire-fighting equipment. The equipment took so much room in the combined fire hall and town lockup, the town fathers eliminated their only jail.

SWIFT RESCUE of casualties was the object of an exercise staged by Britain's Royal Air Force at Brize Norton, England. Using their latest equipment, the R.A.F. demonstrated their progress in aerial rescue work since the war, when their record over the vacuum of British casualties was over 60 per cent from the European Theatre and nearly 100 per cent from Far East battlefronts. Left: Two "wounded" are raised aboard a flying ambulance by a Scaturator machine, a mobile elevator. Right: Heavily helicopter, a stretcher strapped to its side, waits to take off while nurses make comfortable "casualties" strapped in the stretcher. This rescue method is for areas inaccessible to normal aircraft.

EVERYBODY'S Business by Don Graham

How many times have you said: "I must do..." "I feel terrible about not writing to..." "One of these days I'm going to see..."?

Such remarks show we all realize that procrastination is a bad habit—but that we are resigned to it. We're not really convinced that it pays to "do it now".

Yet the more we put off doing something because it is distasteful or difficult, the larger the task looms. It weighs on our minds, handicapping the performance of immediate duties and beclouding our pleasures. Obviously the sooner we do it, the happier we'll be.

Even trivial matters should be dealt with promptly in order to develop the action-habit. Is there someone you should write? If so, don't debate with yourself whether you'll write now or later. Reach for your pen!

Such spontaneous actions help to develop an efficiency that makes for success.

If it were not for life insurance agents, many people would put off taking the vitally important step of protecting their families against financial emergencies and providing an income for their own old age.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AID TO BRITAIN

Dear Sir—Recently I heard a C.C.F. member say in the Provincial Legislature that if Canada subsidized Great Britain for a hundred years we would not then have repaid our debt to her. In this regard I think there is only one safe and honorable course to follow, and that is for Canada and the United States to give to Britain, as an outright gift, the foreign investments cashed in by Britain during the war. This would be somewhere in the neighborhood of twenty billion dollars. This would give Britain a foreign investment income of about $600,000,000, which should be sufficient now that her rehabilitation is near completion to balance her trade deficit and permit a standard of living considerably better than she has enjoyed during the post-war years.

All of our Western allies required assistance in varying degrees as a result of the hurt done them during the war, but Britain, because of her single-handed stand, was the only one that cashed in on her life savings in the form of foreign investments.

Both Canada and the United States can easily afford to give their portion of this sum, because both countries as a direct result of the war, and in spite of the increase in their national debt, are better off today than they were before the war. Our national income has risen from four billion in 1939 to twelve billion in 1948. The same figures will be found to be approximately true in the case of the United States.

If this action is taken, and it should be, regardless of whether a Labor or Conservative government is in power in Britain, it will serve, firstly, our ideals of fair play and justice, secondly as stimulant in assisting Britain carry her great burden as the bulwark of freedom in Western Europe, and thirdly as a stabilizing factor in trade between Britain and the North American continent.

Britain made many mistakes as did all nations in the years before September 1939, but when all appeared lost, she did the impossible and achieved "her finest hour" for herself and for us, and it is time that we, on this continent, paid our debt.

RUTLAND HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By TOMMY BRUMMET

The Rowoc Post, school paper, came out last Friday and is selling fairly well. The paper is well as nice to look at but it is hoped it will sell well enough to pay expenses.

The books have arrived for the three-act play and many of the members of the drama club will swing into action now, learning parts and working on the scenery.

Hockey

The juveniles, after winning the first two games against East Kelowna, tied the third one 4-4 on March 2. This means at least one more game to decide the winner in this series.

The midgets are on the right path, headed for the district championship. They won the first four games, which puts them in first place for the playoffs which will be run off soon.

Basketball

The senior boys were "knocked out" of the playoffs, and only just, as Vernon came out on top by one point in the deciding game played at the Scout Hall on Monday, Feb. 28. The game was undecided until the very last, when Vernon broke the tie on a foul shot with only about five seconds remaining in the game. The final whistle blew too soon after that and the Rutland boys had to take the nod 22-20.

On Wednesday, March 2, the boys played their second Inter B. game with Kamloops and lost 30-28. But this only diminished their seven-point lead, which they gained on the Saturday before at Kamloops, and they won the series by 5 points. The next game will be in the near future against the Industrial Electric "Dynamo" and will decide the finalist for this district.

The senior high school girls played an exhibition game against a C.G.I.T. team in the United Church hall on Monday, Feb. 28, and defeated the home team by a score of 18-14.

MORDEN, Man. (CP)—Local officials are considering better and larger facilities in town, especially in the severe winter weather. A new barn, twice the size is needed to provide adequate accommodation.

BOY SCOUT COLUMN

Boy Scout-Girl Guide Week has come and gone, and in the retrospect those responsible for the publicity connected with it have much to congratulate themselves about. Newspaper and radio support was excellent, and the store window displays were eye-catching. The public should have a greater awareness of the place in the community of the Scout and Guide movement than before, and an understanding of the scope of the work. The various service clubs of the community also co-operated by having speakers address them on the Scout movement at their meetings in or near Scout Week. The church parade on Sunday, Feb. 27, was well attended, particularly by the Protestant Scouts and Cubs. One thing is a must, however, for any future parade, and that is music.

The Scouters' Council held a supper meeting on the Thursday of Boy Scout Week, in the Anglican Parish Hall, and the Anglican Ladies certainly served a wonderful dinner. After the business of the meeting was concluded the 2nd Kelowna Scoutmaster and ASM gave a short demonstration of games.

The Leadership Course got underway on Thursday evening at the Scout Hall, with Executive Commissioner Ken Jordan, Field Commissioner Jack Scribner and district Commissioner Gray in charge. On the training team were also Marjorie Thompson, Cubmaster of Okanagan Mission, Scoutmaster Jack Stocks, of Penticton, and Mrs. Tidball, Cubmaster of the Robin Hood pack, Penticton. The number attending was smaller than had been hoped. Most were already active in the movement, and apparently the radio and newspaper, plus personal appeals for new leaders fell on deaf ears. Twelve attended the first night, and on the Friday four more registered. The outdoor sessions scheduled for Sunday, March 6, were postponed until Sunday, April 3, when weather conditions will be better.

The forthcoming Jamboree at Ottawa is occupying the minds of all at this time, both Scouters and Scouts. The primary requisite is First Class rank, and the next requisite is the necessary funds. It is estimated that about $90 per boy will be required to send a Scout to the Jamboree. The Scouts are expected to earn as much of this as possible, and the boys' Scouts will also do their full part. The local association for Central Okanagan, at a dinner meeting at the Royal Anne, discussed the matter of financial aid, and there will be some help from this source too. The executive also agreed to aid Scout and Cub leaders to attend training courses. The Cub course is to be at Nelson into in August, but the Scouts will be held at White Rock in the Easter week. It is to be hoped that a good number of the local leaders will avail themselves of the opportunity.

A special two-night course for group committee members was set for Monday, April 4, and Monday, April 11, in Kelowna, and all committee members in the Central Okanagan will be contacted in this regard.

of the American Federation of Bringing charges in the United States against Soviet Socialist Russia for the operation of slave labor camps, the American Federation of Labor wants no home-grown variety of socialism in North America.

As evidenced by the above quotation from the A. F. of L. Monthly Labor Survey for January, the philosophy of socialism or state ownership is rejected as harmful to the interests of organized labor.

NELSON TURNS DOWN SCHOOL ESTIMATES

NELSON — City Council has turned down its share of the 1949 estimates for Nelson School District.

SPICED BRAN MUFFINS TOPPED WITH NUTS

Crunchy, toasted Kellogg's All-Bran, with taste-tempting spices and nutmeats, makes these muffins extra-delicious!

2 tablespoons 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg 1/2 teaspoon milk
1/2 teaspoon
ginger OR
1 teaspoon
cinnamon
1 cup Kellogg's
All-Bran
1/2 cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in molasses, All-Bran and milk. Let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spice. Add to first mixture and stir only until combined. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and top with nutmeats. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

Canada's most famous natural laxative cereal — by a bowlful tomorrow.

Wool Begins to Come Indoors

No. 7. Nelson's portion was $116,000, a drop of about $6,500 from last year. The move was taken last week after Mayor T. H. Waters had said that no harm would be done by rejecting the estimates.

While the figures were lower than last year, the reduction did not amount to much, he felt.

The 1948 tax rate of 45 mills was "certainly enough," and the 29.5 mills of the 45 that went to school costs were "too much for one purpose."

Ald. N. C. Stubbs felt the estimates should be approved, but that it was urged that the Provincial Government bear a greater share of school costs.

The mayor retorted that although the Goldenberg report had recommended this, it had not been done. "Unless we turn down the estimates and say we won't do it, we won't get anywhere," said Ald. A. H. Allan and promptly moved their rejection. Seconded was Ald. A. G. Ritchie.

Aldermen Allan, Ritchie and Sordich voted in favor of the motion, while Ald. Stubbs signified neither way.

Trail City Council refused to accept both ordinary and extraordinary estimates of its school district.

EAST KELOWNA PARISH GUILD HOLDS MEETING
EAST KELOWNA — The Parish Guild held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. H. R. Perry Tuesday of last week.

With the president in the chair, a discussion took place on the needs of new kneaders for the church. The members decided to obtain the required amount as soon as the material can be procured. Afternoon tea was served by the hostess.

Wool Begins to Come Indoors

A LIGHTER FUTURE, with the emphasis on indoors wear, is planned for woollens by the British, long famed for their tweeds and other out-of-doors, all-wool suitings. Here are four suggestions, all in new, fine, light wool, they demonstrated at a recent parade of models in London. Top left: Dawn-blue negligee, cut on extremely full lines. Top right: White lace housecoat, with shawl collar and full skirt. Bottom left: Housecoat in old rose, with black-and-white check cuffs and collar. Bottom right: Delaine nightgown, with shoulder straps of cream lace threaded with blue silk. A section specially devoted to Britain's latest textile advances will be featured at the London branch of the next British Industries Fair, May 2 thru 13.

FARMER SUGGESTS NOVEL EXEMPTION
SASKATOON (CP) — George Coote, an Alberta delegate, had a new slant on farming to put forward when the Western Agricultural Conference was held in this northern Saskatchewan city.

Mr. Coote said smilingly that as farming was recognized officially as the great gamble in the country and gambling returns were not taxable, farmers should not be subject to income tax.

During the Second World War, he went on, government posters had recognized farming as a gamble. Farmers had been asked to "take another chance" by buying war bonds.

BRIDGE PARTY AT GLENMORE
GLENMORE — The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Community Club held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Caldwell. Plans were made for a bridge party on March 16. Mrs. R. Corner has offered the use of her home.

Specialty Written for Courier by JEAN THOMPSON

A lightning shake-up in the Russian high command has replaced Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov by his fiery deputy, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, in a startling move which left the Western world puzzled.

The announcement made last Friday night gave no explanation. It merely said that Molotov had been released "from the duties of minister of foreign affairs." No position was made of his other post in the Soviet set-up-deputy prime minister.

Confused observers and diplomats groped through a maze of speculation for the meaning of the sudden switch. Possibilities which were advanced ranged from a new and dangerous move in the cold war to a sign that Russia may be planning a change toward the West.

Others saw it as a simple administrative change.

To add to the confusion and speculation, another cabinet reshuffle also changed hands at the same time. A. I. Mikoyan, one of Russia's ablest traders, was replaced by M. A. Menshikov as minister of foreign trade.

The shuffle had iron curtain tongues wagging also. While many theories and much speculation came out of the Russian-dominated Eastern Europe, none could be confirmed by concrete evidence.

Best bets on the significance of the high-level change:

1. With the Moscow announcement coming on the heels of Norway's decision to line up with the West in a North Atlantic pact, and other Scandinavian countries interested in the proposed alliance aimed at barring Soviet aggression, the switch might be preparing a military move in the Baltic. Or it might be designed to intimidate the Scandinavian bloc to leave the Western powers and hence weaken the North Atlantic pact.

2. Some regard the change a promotion for Molotov, "an old Bolshevik." Molotov has been often mentioned as successor to Premier Stalin, now 69, but many feel that Stalin has not yet decided to step out yet. Molotov, still a member of the Politburo — top-flight policy group of the Soviet Union — may devote more time to the all-powerful committee. He is free of administrative tasks. Others suggest he is in line for another appointment.

3. A change of foreign ministers often, but not necessarily, means a change in policy. This change might pave the way to a settlement of the East-West differences, a cold war where Russia has not been doing so well lately. If the Kremlin wanted to lay down a new line of tactical co-operation with the West, Vishinsky's charm, skill in debate and flexibility of mind might aid the radical change.

4. Another possibility mentioned, although generally discounted, is that there has been a split in the Politburo.

Almost all agree that whatever happens Molotov will still carry a lot of weight in Soviet councils; Vishinsky, who started the scathing attacks on the Western powers in the United Nations two years ago and has delivered some of Russia's most strong-worded messages, isn't likely to have a change of heart.

All agreed that it would take a lot of convincing to persuade the Western powers that a switch in policy to a "shake hands and make-up" attitude was genuine.

A woman employee of the United States department of justice and a Russian employee of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations were arrested Friday night for stealing American secret information.

Being held in New York at the week end were Judith Coplon, 27, of Brooklyn, New York, and Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, third secretary of the U.S.S.R. secretariat of the United Nations.

Miss Coplon, since 1943 in a minor position in the justice department at Washington, has been under observation by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for some time. Suspicion was first aroused during a loyalty check of federal employees. Attorney-General Tom C. Clark said.

Both were arrested in New York, where Miss Coplon had gone to meet Gubitchev. When arrested, she had in her purse a flat package containing typewritten summaries of confidential documents involving security data and restricted information.

Exact nature of the information Miss Coplon had with her was not disclosed. Charges of conspiracy to commit an offence against the United States pertaining to the removal of government records and "defrauding the United States of the faithful and impartial services" of Miss Coplon have been laid against the two.

The question of immunity for Gubitchev as an employee of the United Nations may arise. However, U.N. sources said that although U.N. headquarters was authorized as an international zone, the U.S. Congress had not passed an immunity agreement which would protect U.N. employees from arrest under laws of the United States.

According to information from the U.N., Gubitchev came to the United States from Russia in 1946 with architects planning the U.N. headquarters buildings. He has been working as an engineer in the headquarters planning office in Manhattan.

MOVIE QUICKIES

"Give My Regards to Broadway," the new Twentieth Century-Fox technicolor musical opening Friday for two days at the Empress Theatre, brings to the screen the warm, nostalgic and lively story of a grand family of troupers who just wouldn't die when vaudeville folded up.

Starring Dan Dailey, who scored a sensation in "Mother Wore Tights," the unusual story with music features an outstanding supporting cast headed by Charles Wininger, Nancy Guild, Charlie Ruggles and Fay Bainter.

The picture, garnished with singing and dancing (and fancy juggling thrown in for good measure), blends poignant drama and high hearted humor with unusual romance as it unfolds its saga of a family that carried Broadway with it wherever it went.

"Give My Regards to Broadway" is the story of "Albert The Great and Family," who persisted in living and hoping in the golden era of vaudeville, although vaudeville was dead, and movies obviously here to stay. There's Dad (Charles Wininger), "Albert The Great" himself, who can't forget the "big time" and is waiting for its certain return. There's Mom (Fay Bainter), who seems almost as happy in call as she was in position.

There are the lovely daughters (Barbara Lawrence and Jane Nigh) who let love break up the act. And there's Bert (Dan Dailey) who is the act, but who wins stardom in another way.

Warner Bros.' handsome new technicolor musical round-up, "Two Guys From Texas," co-starring Dennis Morgan and Jack Carson in a hilarious riddle of rhythm and laughs, will be the next attraction at the Empress Theatre starting Monday for three days.

Songs, howls (also wolf variety) and 50 gorgeous girls against a lavishly tinted background of dude ranches, moonlight prairies and desert gardens, embellish this new musical entertainment.

Dorothy Malone and Peggy Edwards share feminine honors opposite the two leading funsters. Morgan, equally at home in musical comedy or drama, plays a happy-go-lucky one night-stand artist in this film. This is his first musical since "My Wild Irish Rose." Carson is teamed as his partner, who is also stranded in the Lone Star State, and is willing to sing for his supper at an exclusive dude ranch. One of their outstanding duets which is heard is "I Won't Be a Cowboy In The Movies."

For rip-roaring farce, accented with girls and tunes, this sparkling technicolor round-up wins the prize. The "two guys" are again champs when it comes to laughs.

1899-1949 EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES FOR 50 YEARS

BUT ACT NOW...

Scrambling to make a Will when danger threatens is probably better than making one at all but the preparation of such an important document should not be left to the confusion of a last minute rush.

Making a Will is something that can easily be attended to before emergencies arise. This duty should not be neglected. The logic and advantages of appointing a Corporate Executor and Trustee are obvious and well recognized.

All that is needed to get the job done, and done well, is to ask us to help you plan your Will, which we shall gladly do without charge. You can then have it drawn in proper legal form, naming The Royal Trust Company your Executor and Trustee, execute the Will and file it with us for safekeeping.

Cut Your Milk Bill with 'Carnation-and-Coffee'

Says MRS. RONALD JACKSON of Montreal, Quebec

Mrs. Jackson is mother of five healthy, growing children—all were Carnation babies. She knows the importance of street-chilling a food budget! And Mrs. Jackson finds Carnation so economical!

Undiluted Carnation is wonderful in coffee, for instance—and in most recipes that call for cream. Diluted Carnation (half Carnation, half water) is ready at a moment's notice, to fill every whole milk need. And there's no spoilage in the unopened can, even at summer temperature and without refrigeration.

Make the "6-cup Test"

Carnation costs only about half as much as cream—yet millions prefer it in coffee. You owe it to yourself to give it a fair trial—and one cup of coffee isn't enough.

So drink your next 6 cups of coffee with Carnation—and vary the amount in each cup until you get the combination that suits you best. It'll cost you only a few cents to find out how to save dollars—and to discover that: "You can't beat Carnation 'n' Coffee."

Deserves Support

Variety Concert Will Help Scouts Raise Funds for Camp

Tomorrow night, the 2nd Kelowna Boy Scout troop, sponsored by the Rotary club, will present a concert in the high school auditorium. Proceeds will assist in sending deserving boys of poorer families to summer camp. The program will feature the Vernon Ukrainian dancers as well as local talent.

The 2nd Kelowna Boy Scout troop was organized by the late Lt.-Col. W. H. Bredin in December, 1939. At that time there were 13 members, and George Yochim was assistant scoutmaster. Lt.-Col. Bredin went overseas in 1940, and died about a year ago.

A diversified program will be presented. John Sugars and Doris Dain open the concert with a duet, "With Heart that is Free," accompanied by Kay Dunaway.

Other details of the program are: John Sugars, bass-baritone, features in an old Irish air by Monty Carlo — "Little Town that is Free," accompanied by Kay Dunaway.

Number three on the program is Joe Baumgarten featured in a selected accordion solo.

Mr. Baumgarten is followed by dramatic soprano Doris Dain, singing "With Heart that is Free," accompanied by Kay Dunaway.

E. L. Jenkinson and Kermit Eutin come on stage in the Dance of the Russian Sailors, from the Red Poppy Ballet by E. Gliers.

George Yochim is presented in a monologue, "Ain't Life Tediuous." The next number is selected Boogie Woogie, featuring George Abbot and the piano and Murray Cowie with his trumpet.

John Sugars comes back in the spotlight, with his renditions of "Out With a Song" and "Hills of Home." He is accompanied by Kay Dunaway.

Finishing off the first part of the program, Cy Cairns does a selected piano solo, followed by the Ukrainian Dancers of Vernon.

Following the intermission, John Sugars and Doris Dain render open the second half of the show with a duet "Oh, That We Two Were Maying," accompanied at the piano by Kay Dunaway.

Joe Baumgarten is again featured in a selected accordion solo, followed by Cy Cairns in a piano solo.

Doris Dain captures the spotlight again, to give her rendition "Gianina Mia" and "Lilac Tree." She will be accompanied by Kay Dunaway.

The boogie-woogie duet featuring George Abbot and Murray Cowie again comes to the fore with selected pieces.

Another highlight will be John Sugars, this time re-appearing to sing three Negro spirituals, "No-body Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "Deep River," and "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?" assisted at the piano by Cy Cairns.

Jenkinson and Kermit Eutin appear in a selected piano duet, and the program comes to a close with the Ukrainian Canadian Dancers of Vernon featured in a Sword Dance.

Thirty members have joined bringing the total membership to 100.

Miss B. Parker, the retiring secretary, was presented with a sweater.

CZECH WOMEN IN NEW ARMY

PRAGUE—Czechoslovakia has a women's army, including military pilots, but their identity is hidden under the veil of "military security."

So is the number of women in the army.

The official press bureau, however, recently distributed a series of photographs showing the home life some of the women soldiers engaged in, complete with children. The women were identified only by initials.

There is E. T. for instance, a good-looking blonde girl who holds the rank of third lieutenant in the Czechoslovak army unit in Soviet Russia when she was only 16, along with two sisters and two brothers. A third brother fought with the Red Army.

Miss (the file can only be presumed) Third Lieutenant E. T. started out as a nurse, then became a radio operator at the time of the battle of Sokolovo. In the battle for Dukla Pass, when troops fought their way into Slovakia, she was wounded.

Another woman pilot, also a three-star lieutenant, is Miss (again presumably) A. P. She also started out as a nurse, participated in the battle of Sokolovo, was wounded in the battle for Kiev in 1943, and took part in a number of other battles. She had a part in the signing of the Czechoslovak-Soviet treaty.

In her blue air force uniform and her short, mannish hairdo, she exudes competence. She hates bad weather because it keeps her grounded. She thinks riding in an autobus is more dangerous than flying.

Other women soldiers include staff Captain M.B., a motherly looking woman who was one of the first to enter the Czech army after serving as a teacher in the Stalin-grad area of the Soviet Union.

In the army she served as "enlightenment" officer. Now she is a key figure in the ministry of national defense.

Highest ranking woman in the Czechoslovak army is a Major H. P., who manages the pharmacy at a military hospital.

A veteran of the Spanish Civil War, where she was in charge of the pharmacy in the Jan Amos Komensky military hospital, she came back to Czechoslovakia, but fled to Poland after attacks on Communist party members here. From Poland she went to Soviet Russia, where she managed kitchens. When the Czech army was formed on Russian soil, she organized its pharmaceutical service.

She was on the battlefield at Kiev. The press bureau quotes her as saying her strongest impression of the war was the heroism of the Soviet people in their burned-out villages and cities.

One of the pictures of felicitous home life of soldiers in double harness shows a woman third lieutenant, identified as D.D., changing diapers while her husband, a major, holds their infant's arms and an elder son looks on.

PRINCESS AT BALL

Shown in this latest pose is Princess Margaret looking very charming as she attended a ball at the Central Hotel, Glasgow, in aid of the Scottish Association of Girls' Clubs, of which she is patron. She danced with the Earl of Dalkeith, 25-year-old son of the Duke of Buccleuch, her host. The princess motored with the Buccleuch party 100 miles from Drumlanrig, Dumfriesshire, for the function.

Local Couple Take Wedding Vows at Quiet Ceremony

A floral bank of pink and white carnations, intermingled with green ferns, and complemented by pink and white streamers and silver bells, formed the setting for a quiet wedding ceremony last Monday evening, when Jeanne Evelyn Hemelspeck, became the bride of Carl Edward Glover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Glover. The ceremony took place at the home of the groom's parents and Rev. D. M. Perley officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jack Hemelspeck, the bride chose a tailored turquoise gabardine suit complemented with wine accessories, and wore pink and white carnations on corsage. Around her neck was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. W. Atkinson, her sister, wore a tailored fawn gabardine suit with brown accessories and chose pink and white carnations for her corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception for twenty guests was held at the Glover home, with Mrs. Glover and Mrs. Hemelspeck receiving the guests.

For receiving Mrs. Hemelspeck chose a turquoise crepe dress with beadwork trimming, and wore pink and white carnations on corsage, while Mrs. Glover chose black crepe complemented with silver sequins, and wore pink and white carnations.

Mr. J. B. Clark proposed a toast to the bride and the groom responded.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth, and centered with a double tiered wedding cake, flanked by yellow tapers and daffodils.

Assisting in serving were Miss Jill Kelsey and Miss Dorothy Dunn. For travelling the bride donned a dark brown fur coat over her suit, and the couple travelled to Kamloops by motor for a short honeymoon.

They plan to make their home in Clinton.

Men! Hang On to That Job! Fair Sex May be After It

Hang on to that job, man. The women are after it. After it? They may already have it.

A government report, "Women's Occupations Through Seven Decades," by Janet M. Hooks, came out recently. It shows that the ladies have taken over almost every job conceivable.

Once women chiefly did teaching, nursing, housewifery. But by 1940 there were 217 women sailors or deckhands, 131 grade-crossing watchmen or bridge tenders, 272 blacksmiths, forgers or hammermen, 1,225 managers or owners of liquor stores, 1,597 newspaper boys (or newspaper girls), 506 masons or tile setters, 96 loom fixers, 1,717 paper-hangers, 128 roofers.

Each of these jobs had a numerical increase over 1930. The case of the woman veterinarian shows what has happened. In 1910 — would you believe it? — we got by without any lady veterinarians. By 1920, we had one, 11 by 1930 and 99 by 1940.

Sure, there were some decreases. Only 4,606 women called themselves authors in 1940. In 1930, there were 5,393. Women dentists fell off, too, from 1,359 to 1,067. So did the number of telephone operators, thanks to improvements. (The improvements were in the telephone business, not in the women.)

But in general the march of the woman worker has been steady, and stuffy characters who resent it can take this advice: Keep the nation out of war.

The Civil War boosted women's role in teaching and nursing. The First World War lured her into the factory. The Second World War lured her there. She became a welder, a lathe operator, a blast furnace topman.

Yet, Miss Hooks says, there remain handicaps. Most employers won't hire a woman to boss a group of men. Nor is there much demand for the travelling saleswoman.

Laennec, a Victim and a Victor

LAENNEC, a consumptive himself, was greatly interested in the study of tuberculosis. He examined some four hundred cases, keeping detailed records. These studies led to his invention in 1819 of the Stethoscope, which was at first just a cylinder of paper held in his hands and later made of hollow wooden tubes. The Stethoscope permitted development of physical diagnosis far beyond anything previously attempted and our modern knowledge of chest diseases is mainly derived from Laennec's writings on the subject.

Don't wait till you are ill to take an interest in your health. Prevention is far easier and less expensive than cure. Have your health checked regularly by your doctor and if you ARE ill, follow his directions exactly.

CAR SUPPLY CATCHING UP WITH DEMAND

Seller's Honeymoon in New and Used Cars Nearly Over, Dealers Admit

Supply Still Below Demand in Kelowna, but Dealers Say Gap is Narrowing

The seller's honeymoon in new and used cars is already over in the United States and the bloom is beginning to wear off the economic bill in Canada. Greater supply and tightening purse strings are responsible.

This seems to be the automotive picture as drawn from a Dominion-wide survey by The Financial Post and talks with key executives in both manufacturing and selling ends of the trade.

No one expects any trouble selling everything that can be made this year, but to quote a top dealer representative who had just concluded a fact-finding tour of the U.S. and Canada: "The honeymoon is over. It's time to start automotive housekeeping."

Narrowing Gap

Supply is still below demand in Kelowna but the gap is narrowing rapidly. In fact some types of English makes of cars can be purchased on the spot.

Said one dealer in the Ford line: "It used to be that the first fellow on our list that was called when a car came in would come whipping over. Now we go through five or ten before we find a buyer."

Waiting lists still are not a thing of the past, but they are only a few names long now. Another local dealer said that in his opinion the balance will be reached by the end of April. "We should be able to guarantee almost immediate delivery then," he said.

Used car lots in Kelowna have been partially or completely filled for several weeks. Dealers contacted could not estimate the exact drop in prices, but all admitted they were not getting as much for their cars as they did three months ago.

Stocks Piling Up

The cross-country survey showed that many Ford dealers were already making immediate deliveries.

ies. Dealers in a Canadian city of 100,000 were reported to have 250 Ford products in stock.

Some individual dealers in bigger cities have as many as 50 cars on hand. Two dealers, one in Toronto, the other in Vancouver, chose the same day to advertise "immediate delivery."

Sales of new-used vehicles have slumped badly. Prices are from 10 to 15 percent off. Only pre-1941 models are moving in any volume. Used car dealers are prepared to pay up to $100 over list for Chevrolets and Dodges where they had been paying up to $250.

They were offering $200 premium on new-used Fords at first. Now there's a $200 discount in them.

Wait New Models

Introduction of new models by General Motors and Chrysler now being or about to be shown, is expected to provide a shot-in-the-arm. Interest in the new styles has been tremendous. New Chevys go on display in Kelowna today.

Following is the survey facts about Vancouver: Backlog on Chevys, Plymouths, Dodges estimated between six months and a year. Back pressure for Ford line easing considerably, with delivery now being made in 60-90 days. Chrysler dealers claim they have a year's orders on the books; Chevrolet, six months.

Both new and used car sales hit badly by last winter in 47 years. Used car prices off 10 to 15 percent, but coming back fast. Dealers fully stocked, buying unless they can get a bargain. Ford 49ers selling about list price on used car lots. Several advertised privately $150 below. Only cars to hold price wise were 49's and 41's.

EXPECT NO PRICE DROP IN BUTTER

Shortage of First Grade Butter Still Exists in Province Officials Declare

No immediate drop in the price of first grade butter in Kelowna is foreseen although there are reports of "easing" in the retail price in Vancouver.

A local spokesman said there was little likelihood of top grade butter dropping lower than the 71c a pound now charged in local stores. Butter has been steady at 71c for several weeks.

He pointed out a shortage in first grade butter still exists and will continue for several weeks. His prediction is shared by a prominent Vancouver butter dealer who said he did not expect city prices there for grade one to decline.

In Saskatchewan, first grade dropped three cents a pound and the price paid cream producers was reduced in proportion.

RAILWAY WANTS S.S. SICAMOUS "PRESERVED"

Possibility of City Getting Pioneer Vessel Lessens Following Conference

The possibility of S.S. Sicamous being given by the CPR to Kelowna lessened on Wednesday during a visit of railway officials to the city.

Kelowna could have the Sicamous, if it wants it, with the strings the railway attaches to the gift. These strings are that the old lake ship will be maintained as a museum piece, a historical landmark.

Kelowna does not feel that it can afford the upkeep on this ship for this purpose. When the acquisition cost of maintenance as a museum piece was investigated and was far beyond the city's purse strings.

However, some civic organizations have been interested in acquiring the ship in order that it might be stripped down and the hull used for some purpose. One such organization is the Aquatic Club.

Preserve Vessel

However on Wednesday in a conference with civic officials, Messrs. McCracken, Reid and Pathe of the railway, again stated that the desire of the railway was for the vessel to be preserved.

This is no new attitude on the part of the railway. George Ballie, B.C. vice-president of the railway, some years ago made the same stipulation. The railway would rather see the ship completely broken up than used as a dance hall or for some mundane commercial enterprise in her old age.

The conference on Wednesday is taken to mean that the Sicamous will not come to Kelowna. Some other cities are interested in her, notably Penticton. However, if any city accepts the ship it will do so with the proviso that the superstructure be not removed, that she be kept in good shape and not used for commercial purposes.

TRADE BOARD DINNER

Fred Gibson, president of the Kelowna Board of Trade, and Mrs. Gibson, are attending the annual meeting of the Summerland Board of Trade tonight, where they will officially represent Kelowna.

of three and a half cents over cost price. Recently the second and third grade butter markets showed steady declines, due mostly to competition from margarine in parts of Canada. Also attributed to the decline was heavier than normal surpluses of the grades.

For the first time since pre-war days, third grade butter will shortly make its appearance in Kelowna. One local store is expecting a shipment and it will go on sale immediately.

B.C. RED CROSS DRIVE ENTERS SECOND WEEK

The Canadian Red Cross annual appeal for funds has entered its second week, and donations are coming in from branches in every part of the dominion, to the headquarters in each province.

The campaign opened February 28, simultaneously with the American Red Cross appeal.

Objective for Canada is five million dollars. This is an increase over the 148 figure, for two reasons:

War funds previously allocated for veterans' and overseas work are exhausted. The Red Cross must now rely wholly on funds raised in the current campaign.

Considerable extension in free blood transfusion service.

Outpost hospitals, junior Red Cross and other services.

Greatest charge on the Red Cross is the national blood transfusion service which will call for expenditure of $2,223,584 to extend its services dominion-wide. This service was pioneered in British Columbia, and by June this year it is expected all provinces will be taking part.

Total 1948 budget is shown below, with net figures in parenthesis: national free blood transfusion service, $2,223,584 ($1,447,350); outpost and crippled children's hospitals, $1,544,461 ($1,028,611); civilian welfare and disaster relief, $447,200 ($447,200); instruction services (nursing, first aid, swimming and water safety and junior Red Cross, $585,161 ($510,326); service to war veterans, $590,345 ($553,345); Overseas relief, administration, all other services, $1,041,012 ($1,008,175).

British Columbia's share in the 1949 campaign is an objective of $500,000.
